Community Chest Fund $19,000 Oversubscribed

ATLANTA SPIRIT REVIVAL IS SEEN IN DRIVE SUCCESS

"Campaign Has Touched Heartstrings of City as Nothing Else Has Ever Done," Declares Black.

SILVER LOVING CUP GIVEN TO CHAIRMAN

Capt. J. W. English Had Volunteered To Complete Fund if Workers Failed To Reach Goal.

"Atlanta has exceeded the $600,000 objective in the Community Chest drive by $19,000."

This announcement by Campaign Manager Eugene R. Black was received with thunderous applause at the last rally of the workers at the Healey building Monday night.

The sum raised will provide adequately for one year for the needs of no less than 25 charitable institutions, which had formed a federation collecting the funds necessary for their continued existence.

The meeting at the Healey building Monday brought to a close one of the most intensive drives staged in Atlanta for charitable purposes, in which hundreds of business men gave freely of their time and which incidentally revived the old Atlanta community spirit.

Atlanta Hears Cry.

From far and near the people of Atlanta have heard the Macedonian cry of the helpless and incurable, and charity, which has been defined as "human love to God and one's neighbor," stands tantamount, because Atlanta has responded to a divine command, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

"You have done something for Atlanta and you have done something that nobody expected could be done," said Eugene Black in his address to the workers, referring to the opposition and coolness with which the project of combining the charitable appeals for 35 different institutions in one great drive, was received at first.

Vice-Chairman J. M. B. Hoxsey also referred to the obstacles which had to be surmounted before the idea of a community chest met with general response and approbation in the city.

"Eugene R. Black, our chairman, has proven himself to be a man of magnificent courage in assuming the task of managing this campaign. Despite the assertion from many sides that the movement was a forlorn hope, he took up the task, thereby impelling his reputation and prestige, but he can look back with satisfaction on the achievements of the past week," said Vice-Chairman Hoxsey.

As a token of the admiration and affection in which he is held by the hundreds of workers, Mr. Hoxsey presented the chairman with a handsome silver vase, inscribed with the details of the campaign as a "tribute to Mr. Black's constructive selfishness."

The last day of the campaign was

Justice Orders Stokes and Wife To Settle Fight

Counsel Told To Simplify Issues Before Court.

New York, November 19.—Determined to end the Stokes divorce litigation in New York courts for all time, Justice Wasservogel has directed counsel for W. E. D. Stokes and his wife, Helen Elwood Stokes, to thresh out differences between themselves and simplify the issues that must be decided by the court.

As a result, the opposing counsel argued the question of alimony and custody of the children in Wasservogel's chamber for six hours Monday.

As they left for dinner, both sides declined to issue statements, but declared progress was being made. Tuesday the counsel are expected to submit to Wasservogel their recommendations on the questions of custody and alimony. The judge will then prepare his decision which he says will terminate the five-year divorce battle.

Mrs. Stokes is suing for a separation and for the custody of the two children of her marriage with Stokes. At present her temporary alimony is $18,000 a year, and it is understood that she is demanding a substantial increase.

DEBATE OPENED ON INCOME TAX IN LOWER HOUSE

Committee Measure Discussed Monday, But the Lankford Bill Will Have Right of Way Today.

When the house of representatives adjourned Monday night, debate on the proposal to adopt an income tax as the basic source of revenue for state purposes was well under way. The actual bill before the house was the one introduced by Chairman W. R. Jones, of the committee on amendments to the constitution, and known as the committee bill. However, Speaker Neill had announced that the senate income tax bill, known as the Lankford bill, in accordance with the program arranged by the rules committee, would take precedence on Tuesday, the first day, under the rule that it can come up for third and final reading.

Speaker Neill stated that debate on the Jones bill was ordered for Monday, simply to conserve time. The two bills are basically similar and by opening the debate a day earlier, it was thought that much debate on the income tax question could be completed.

Amendments Planned.

When the house begins consideration of the Lankford measure, it will also have before it several amendments approved by the committee. One of these removes the clause permitting crediting of ad valorem tax payments against income tax assessments, and vice versa, and another removes fixed exemptions, leaving these to future legislatures to determine. Another amendment strikes out the provision that the tax shall be levied on net incomes, eliminating the word "net."

Representative Fowler, of Bibb, spoke nearly an hour Monday afternoon in advocacy of a sales tax bill, which, he said, he plans to introduce as a substitute measure. Under his bill ad valorem taxes on property for state purposes would be entirely eliminated and a general sales tax of one per cent adopted in its place. Eventually, he said, this would raise twenty million dollars in revenue and would thus probably relieve

TOT AIDS SISTER IN VAIN ATTEMPT TO SLAY HERSELF

Quitman, Ga., November 19.—Mrs. Sallie Daniels, 23, is in a serious condition here tonight after an alleged attempt to end her own life with the aid of her 5-year-old sister. Brooding over domestic troubles, she put a razor to her throat and told her little sister to press on it. A deep gash was cut and turning the other side of her neck she again had the little girl to push on the weapon.

With blood spattered on her face the little sister rushed home and told her parents. Physicians succeeded in stopping the flow of blood, but the woman is in a desperate condition.

FRANCO-BRITISH ROW PATCHED UP BY AMBASSADORS

Council Agrees on Principle of Measures To Be Taken Against German Nation.

Paris, November 19.—The allies, after declaring in various ways their determination to disagree on the enforcement of the allied military control in Germany, hesitated when the moment came for the break today, and in a final effort to avoid rupture patched up a compromise text of a note to Germany, which was submitted to the various governments.

FRENCH RESERVE RIGHT TO ACT ALONE

The French cabinet approved the course taken, but Great Britain and Belgium had not been heard from when the council of ambassadors met at 6 o'clock for its evening session, hence the crisis goes over until tomorrow.

The gravity of the decision the ambassadors were called upon to take was reflected in the extraordinary precautions taken to surround the deliberations of the council with secrecy. The French newspaper men were muzzled in one wing of the foreign office, while the ambassadors were notified that they should make their entrance at the other end. As for the foreign correspondents, including the American and British, they were excluded from the building altogether.

Anglo-Saxon on Job.

But the Anglo-Saxons, though obliged to shiver in the cold rain while on watch, were the first to penetrate the secret of the council. They discovered the scheme to introduce the ambassadors at the far end of the foreign office, and while awaiting their arrival, were gratified by a cordial salute from General Mangin, whose early morning visit to Premier Poincare was much commented upon in view of the present tension.

Myron T. Herrick, the American envoy, was in appearance the only optimist among the ambassadors. Viscount Ishii, of Japan, grave and taciturn as usual, entered the building without looking to the right or left. Lord Crewe, of Great Britain, was solemn and preoccupied and appeared unaware of the presence of any spectators. Baron Avezano, of Italy, and Jules Cambon, representing France, escaped all observation by entering from the rear, but Baron Giffard d'Estroff, of Belgium, although serious, had a smile for the newspaper men and posed for the photographers, expressing the hope they would do better by him than previously.

The atmosphere around the foreign

FOREIGN DEBTORS TO GET REMINDER

State Department To Convey Notices That America Expects Settlement on Loans.

Washington, November 19.—Indications were given in a responsible quarter today that the World War Foreign Debt commission at its next meeting would be urged to send reminders to the nations which have not yet reached a settlement with the United States relative to their debts.

Such a suggestion was to have been made at the last meeting of the commission two or three weeks ago but was not brought up for the reason, it is the nearest that the negotiators relative to the German reparations inquiry were in progress and the belief was general among commission members that these negotiations might be harmed should a move then be made.

The proposal which the debt commission will be asked to consider contemplates a formal note to each of the debtor nations which have not made settlements setting forth that the commission would be pleased to consider the matter of funding the debts with "credited delegations or commissions from the various countries."

Pushball Contest Reminds Observer of Argonne Days

EMORY FIELD COVERED WITH SARTORIAL REMAINS

BY PAUL WARWICK.

In order that the brutal, inhuman element in the annual hazing of freshmen by sophomores might be done away with, Emory university instituted the annual pushball contest on the school's athletic field Monday afternoon.

The battle resulted in a scoreless—scoreless, you understand, not goalless—tie, for after an hour's pushing and panting, rushing and ranting, bursting and ripping, stumbling and slipping, neither team had been able to score a pushdown, or whatever the standard is for measuring such contests. The game ended with the ball on that part of the sophomore's 30-yard line not occupied by casualties.

It has been said that Emory did not countenance intercollegiate football because the game is too rough. Well, four hundred and six rubber shoes, thirty-four shirts, eight single shoes, seventy-five shirt sleeves, twenty-nine hose supporters, eight hundred and seventy-three portions of trousers in varying shades and sizes, thirteen selected teeth and perhaps an occasional Adam's apple dot the university athletic field this morning as immutable evidence that the perpetrator of that "too rough" wheeze was a practical joker.

Hard-Fought Combat.

It was the hardest-fought contest this rather chicken-hearted correspondent has ever witnessed, and if you'll pardon an objectionable wartime reminiscence, he had a front seat in the battle of the Argonne for three weeks.

This was Atlanta's first glimpse of pushball, according to the leading authorities, and here's hoping it has come to stay, for despite all the blood and thunder injected into the opening paragraphs, and into the game for that matter, it is a worth-while proceeding to watch and after it has been regulated a bit should provide excellent means for settling of the

JOHNSON TO BARE PLATFORM STRIPS IN CHICAGO TALK

His Record Presents a Strange Admixture of Progressive and Stand-Pat Policies.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, November 19.—Hiram Johnson is seeking the republican presidential nomination on a challenge against reactionary policies which he attributes to President Coolidge. Yet his own record in the senate which will constitute exhibit A in the coming battle, presents a strange admixture of "progressive and conservative ingredients. Likewise the measures he will champion and defend on the stump include some that have been sponsored by the progressives and others which have been derided by them as reactionary.

In the first two years of the Harding administration, Johnson almost lost the progressive label which he had borne from his early days in California politics and in the Roosevelt campaign in 1912. In fact, Johnson had become so regular that many of the old line republicans were looking to him as the "regular" candidate for 1928 when Harding could have passed from the political stage. But Harding's death threw the presidential situation wide open, and Johnson's best chance lay in going after the progressive following.

Johnson will lay down his platform formally in a speech to be delivered at Chicago soon. But meantime an outline of his policies are as follows:

Is For Soldier Bonus.

Foreign relations: Johnson stands where he did in 1920, in total opposition to the treaty of Versailles, the league of nations and all subsidiaries, including the world court. He is for full collection of the allied war debt and will support the debt commission's latest effort to exact some definite promise to pay from France.

Soldier Bonus: Twice Johnson cast his vote for the adjusted compensation bill which was vetoed by President Harding. If the bill comes to a vote in the approaching session, Johnson will speak and vote for it.

Tax reduction: Johnson favors lower taxes in general, but opposes taking the burden from great wealth. He stands nearer the LaFollette group than the administration group.

MAYOR TO NAME BOARD TO GOVERN BOXING MATCHES

Commission Is Authorized After Hot Debate at Meeting of Council on Monday Afternoon.

BOARD IS AUTHORIZED TO COMPLETE SCHOOLS

Fight for Refund of Fi. Fa. Penalty on Delinquent Tax Payers Goes Over to December Session.

An Atlanta boxing commission was created, refund of city tax if it was left up to the first December session, and authority to the school board to continue work on three bond issue schools, contracts for which were cancelled by contractors was voted by council at its session Monday afternoon.

No Reversals Expected.

The aldermanic board will meet Thursday to consider all appropriation measures but no reversal of council's action was anticipated Monday.

The boxing commission ordinance, drawn by Alderman Jesse Armitstead and recommended for passage by the ordinance committee, drew the attack of a determined minority of council which centered its support on a substitute proposal by Alderman J. L. Carpenter and Alderman J. R. Bachman, chairman of the water committee of council, in introducing a resolution asking the finance committee to reduce the rate. It was referred to the finance committee.

Has Popular Favor.

The tax problem, apparently growing in prominence daily in the consideration of administration as well as congressional leaders, was discussed briefly today by President Coolidge with Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, who is to be chairman of the senate finance committee. Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the republican leader, appealed to council to adopt a measure to keep it on a high plane.

The commission, under the ordinance, is to be composed of five men appointed by the mayor and subject to removal at his pleasure. It will collect 5 per cent of all receipts at boxing matches, and turn the money over to the city treasury.

OFFICERS BELIEVE OIL MAN ALIVE

Note Directing Collection of Insurance and Bloody Carcass of Chicken Are Clues.

Camden, Tenn., November 19.—Officers here were working tonight on what they considered an interesting clue concerning the mysterious disappearance of J. H. Olive, manager of the Standard Oil company's local branch, after a bleeding chicken's body was found in woods near Olive's office, and a note directing the collection of an insurance policy. Officers now are of the opinion that Olive is alive and have begun their search for him.

Failing to return home Saturday night, search was begun Sunday morning for Olive, resulting in the finding of bloodstains on the office floor and apparent evidence of a struggle. On the floor by his desk was an unfinished report to the Standard Oil company, and two notes, one with the initials "K. K. K." threatening his life, and the other, a message to his wife, expressing his fears for his own safety.

Authorities had discounted the probability of the Ku Klux Klan having been implicated.

Justice Is Slain By Young Farmer On Dawson Road

Quarrel Over Alleged Removal of Negroes Leads to Death Fray.

Dawson, Ga., November 19.—Renewing a quarrel which they met on the highway four miles from here today, Judge J. H. Kelly, 70-year-old justice of peace, was shot and instantly killed by Enoch Trapp, young farmer, who promptly surrendered to the sheriff.

Judge Kelly had lived in this section all of his life. He is understood to have charged Trapp with removing negro laborers from his place under cover of night and the two quarrelled. Today the peace justice, driving a horse-drawn vehicle on the road, met Trapp near Herod. According to eye-witnesses the quarrel was renewed and the peace justice got down from his buggy and Trapp opened fire. Both men were armed, witnesses said. The Trapp county grand jury is now in session here and the matter may be taken up by that body. Both men were well known in this section, especially Judge Kelly.

Trapp is being held in jail pending further investigation of the shooting. Funeral arrangements for Judge Kelly have not been completed.

VETERANS' BUREAU HAS PRIVATE EAR FOR CONGRESSMEN

Democratic Senator Bares Existence of "Very Active" Section To Help Out Solons.

Washington, November 19.—A disclosure that there is a special section in the Veterans' Bureau which handles cases in which members of congress are interested and a charge by Representative Johnson, republican, Washington, that the bureau had kidnapped a veteran from an insane asylum in his state marked the hearings today before the senate veterans' committee.

Other developments included a decision not to hear further witnesses in defense of former Director Charles H. Forbes because of a lack of time and the substantiation by William G. Lipscomb, of Washington, of that portion of the affidavit of Frank R. Chambers, Jr., of San Diego, Calif., that a "graft" proposal had been made in connection with a proposition to lease Chambers' Virginia farm to the veterans' bureau.

Defied Court Order.

Representative Johnson told the committee that in removing Charles Kasavague from his state to a Pennsylvania hospital for treatment the bureau had acted in defiance of the restraining order issued by the state courts. Dr. S. O. Smith, one of the committee investigators, testified concerning Kasavague's case on November 5 and Mr. Johnson said he appeared to protest against that testimony and also against what he characterized Oklahoma Governor Is Convicted of Abuse of Pardon-Parole Power by Unanimous Vote.

EXECUTIVE ACQUITTED ON ONLY FIVE COUNTS

Ten Other Charges Sustained by the Necessary Two-Thirds Majority of State Senate.

Oklahoma Governor J. C. Walton held guilty as charged in 11 articles of impeachment.

Acquitted on 5 charges. Court dismissed 6 charges. Governor Walton formally removed from office by unanimous vote.

Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp, democrat, now governor. Governor Trapp has been acting governor since October 23, 1923.

Governor Trapp stood trial in impeachment proceedings brought against him in 1921, and was acquitted through a motion to quash which carried by a vote of 27 to 16.

Governor Trapp, when he became chief executive Monday, was serving his second four-year term as lieutenant governor.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Oklahoma City, November 19.—J. C. Walton, fifth governor of Oklahoma, was removed from office tonight by unanimous vote of the state senate court of impeachment after his trial on charges of corruption in office, neglect of duty, moral turpitude and general incompetence.

A formal verdict was returned after the executive had been found guilty of 11 of the 16 charges presented. This vote was 41 to 0.

Six of the original 22 charges constituting the impeachment bill were dismissed by order of the court.

The court, by a standing vote, denied a motion for a new trial which Governor Walton's counsel filed immediately after the verdict was announced.

One Senator Absent.

The governor's removal, although not formally ordered until after a verdict had been returned on each charge, was made certain this afternoon when the court found him guilty of abusing his pardon and parole authority, the first charge to be voted upon.

Forty-one senators lacking only one of the total membership of the body voted for conviction. Senator Jack Barker, who has consistently voted in the governor's favor throughout the 16 days of the trial, was absent.

The articles of impeachment were filed by the lower house of the state legislature, which less than two months ago the executive had dispersed by military force.

Trapp Is Governor.

By the removal of Governor Walton, Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp became governor. Trapp has been lieutenant governor during two four-year administrations and has been acting governor since October 23, when the senate suspended Governor Walton.

News Outside the Door.

It is interesting to ponder that though the flag covers the country, the larger number of those creatures who make the nation great have never given allegiance to its laws, or bowed to its banner. The long-eared owl, wintering southward to Louisiana and Georgia, is a night prowler, seldom seen in the daytime, but is an economic worker for Uncle Sam and a friend of humanity in a large sense.

Roosting among dark conifers in daytime, he has a way of straightening up like a dead limb stump, and trying to escape notice by looking like his environment when discovered. If the intruder does not go away he turns his head with fixed, staring eyes, and looks unutterably ferocious. He is really very inoffensive, and will flutter away to another perch if annoyed.

To locate him the naturalist searches the needles and cones on the ground for the pellets of undigested bones, fur and feathers which his tribe eject from their mouths when the nutrient portions of field mice, shrews and occasional small birds have been absorbed.

Twenty-eight votes were necessary to convict.

Senator C. D. Leedy, of Arnett, was the 28th man. With the determining vote in his power, he told the court he would vote "no" unless given authority later to explain his ballot.

A pause ensued and a voice broke the silence.

"All right, go ahead and vote."

"Then I vote 'aye,'" Senator Leedy said, and a burst of cheers and applause came from the galleries.

When the roll was complete the clerk read the result and Chief Justice J. T. Johnson of the state supreme court, who presided at the trial, announced the verdict.

"Guilty as charged in article 19," the chief justice said. More applause greeted his words and brought a hasty reprimand from the marshal of the senate.

WALTON'S CAREER

ONE OF STORMS.

Oklahoma City, November 19.—J. C. Walton was elected governor of Oklahoma last November and took the oath of office January 8. From the time he entered the race for the democratic nomination, his public life has been a series of sensations.

Tacked by the farm and labor groups, he declared the Reconstruction League, Mr. Walton plunged into a campaign for the democratic nomination.

The campaign was bitter. Walton was branded a radical.

Old line democrats protested that Walton was an interloper. Walton, however, maintained his democratic affiliation, denied the charges of radicalism and stood out flat-footed for the farmer and laborer. He defeated two opponents by a substantial majority. His campaign for election was a repetition of the primary fight. Walton was elected by more than 100,000 votes.

Had 100,000 Guests.

More than 100,000 persons thronged the grounds, heard Walton take his oath of office, danced and made merry and topped it off with a meal of barbecue meat from smoking pits more than a mile long.

The new governor submitted to the legislature a program looking to the betterment of the condition of farmers and laborers. About half the laws he proposed were enacted.

Immediately after adjournment of the legislature in April the governor set about reconstituting the boards of control of state schools and institutions and protest was aroused throughout the state.

While the protest was at its height Walton named George Wilson, an organizer of the Reconstruction League and his own campaign manager for a time, as president of Oklahoma A. & M., replacing Dr. J. B. Eckridge.

Legion Forced Removal.

Nearly 1,000 students and residents of Stillwater, seat of the college, carried their protest personally to the governor, and carrying out a threat, they had Wilson installed under the watchful eyes of a party of national guard officers.

The American Legion continued its opposition to Wilson and after about

Fight To Restore

Charles, the Martyr,

To Saints' Calendar

London, November 19.—An attempt will be made at the church assembly this week to restore to the calendar of English church saints "King Charles the Martyr," whose name was removed from the list long ago after having been honored for many years.

Wm. Cromwell's judges tried Charles I for alleged misdemeanors against the commonwealth the monarch was arraigned as a "tyrant," "traitor and murderer." While a majority of the nations today acquiesces in the verdict of history that Charles was faithless, tyrannical and hopeless as a ruler, a small but respectable minority that would welcome his restoration to a sainthood and for these that a section of the church assembly will speak.

a month's incumbency he was removed.

With Wilson's removal came a dramatic break with the Reconstruction League.

With no forewarning, announcement was made from the executive office June 26 that he had declared martial law in Oklahoma county. He explained that the action was necessary to curb masked outrages. The military rule, however, was lifted two weeks later.

On August 14, Tulsa county went under the control of the military rule. The military rule inquiry was set up and functioned for more than two months.

Three Plead Guilty.

During the time three men were sentenced to the penitentiary upon pleas of guilty to rioting charges.

A strong protest came from the press when the governor suspended the writ of habeas corpus and at a time placed a military censor in the offices of the Tulsa Tribune and the Henrietta Free Lance. The censors were soon removed and the censor suspension was never brought to a test in court, prisoners being released.

On September 15, at midnight, the executive issued a proclamation placing the entire state under martial law. The Ku Klux Klan was responsible for the lawlessness that he charged existed to such an extent that a "state of rebellion and insurrection" had been declared.

Menaced Jury Room.

Machine guns were trained on a grand jury room at the Oklahoma county court house when a grand jury was about to assemble to investigate charges against Walton. Walton had misused state money.

A majority of the members of the state legislature signed a call for a special session to convene on November 10. On September 26 the date set, the meeting was prevented by a constitutional amendment to permit the legislature to meet without call by the governor for impeachment session.

A Week's Illness--

What Would It Mean?

If you were disabled and bedridden for a week--what would it mean to you?

Would you miss the income that would come to you if you were able to go out and work?

If so, here's a tip: Constitution Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance.

W. Williams, of 84 Western avenue, Atlanta, was injured in an automobile accident in College Park on September 30.

When he came home he found his home in flames and his property in ruins.

H. T. Rogers, of 300 Anderson street, Marietta, was struck by an automobile at Walton street in Atlanta on July 27 while he was alighting from a street car.

Williams was disabled a week, and Rogers a little over a week. Both were protected under the Constitution Travel and Pedestrian Insurance. Williams received $10 and Rogers $14.28.

Each paid only $1 for his policy, which paid for itself more than tenfold.

Accidents happen every day. Any Constitution reader can see the Travel and Pedestrian Accident policy by paying only $1 and subscribing one year to The Daily and Sunday Constitution.

DEBATE OPENED

ON INCOME TAX

not only the load of state taxation, but county and municipal tax rates also.

The first speech in support of the income tax proposal was made by Representative Ellis, of Tift, a member of the tax commission and a supporter of the income tax plan.

Representative McClure, of Walker, another member of the tax commission, also spoke in support of the income tax. He told the house that as far as the general question of tax reform is concerned, it would make no sense to discuss the details of the Governor Walker whether the house did the work for which it had been called or not. He said the vast majority of the people of the state was convinced that the governor had handled his end of the problem in a dignified and businesslike manner and that the assembly failed to provide relief for the "obnoxious" tax system now in operation, it would be the assembly which would have to bear the blame.

Representative Rowe, of Richmond county, had just begun to speak when a motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock was carried. The provision that Mr. Rowe have the floor as soon as debate opened, was carried. The motion was introduced by Representative Knight, of Benton, and was in the form of a request for unanimous consent.

Resolution to Adjourn.

At the morning session, Representative Stewart, of Atkinson county, introduced a motion providing that the legislature adjourn sine die next Saturday, regardless of the status of its business at that time. He argued that sufficient had been accomplished and that it was best that the legislators leave the tax situation as it is at present.

Representative Fleming, of Hancock, spoke against the motion, stating that even before the special session began, letters had been sent out by the Georgia Taxpayers league, predicting that Mr. Stewart would introduce a resolution on November 17. The speaker said that the gentleman from Atkinson was two days late in making his motion, and was running comparatively true to form.

Mr. Stewart stated that if such letters had gone out, it was entirely proper that he should have been informed of it. He said he did not know any officers of the Taxpayers' league, even if any corporation.

Representative Woodruff, of De Kalb, asked Mr. Stewart if he did not know that the principal reasons for the loss of time in the house was because he, Mr. Stewart, insisted on taking up the house's time by speaking.

The resolution was overwhelmingly defeated, only a scattering half dozen votes being cast for it.

Cheese Factories Lose.

Two meetings, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, were held during the day by the house committee on constitutional amendments. In the afternoon the committee advised a bill by Representative Holden, of Clarke, to exempt from taxation until January 1, 1925, all cheese factories and all cows supplying the milk, as well as the pasture on which these cows grazed. However, Mr. Holden afterwards stated that he would seek to have the bill recommended on Tuesday, amending it to exclude the cows' land from the tax exemption, and to make it apply to creameries as well as cheese factories. The object of his bill, he said, was to encourage an important infant industry in the state.

Three bills by Representative Elders, of Tattall county, were favorably reported by the committee. One of these provides for a corporate franchise tax, one for a tax on "luxuries and the unnecessary things of life," and one for a heavier inheritance tax.

At the morning session of the committee, the bill introduced by Representative Bussey, of Crisp, and others, providing for elimination of all ad valorem property on county tax districts from state taxation, imposing a state income tax on individuals and corporations, and exempting from taxation all incomes derived from agriculture, was favorably reported.

Governor Urges Bill.

Governor Walker appeared before the committee and urged a favorable report on this bill. He said he recognized that there is a strong sentiment in his favor in the house, and that he desired the measure to come to the floor so that its advocates might have every opportunity of explaining its features. While the bill is not exactly in line with recommendations of tax commission, the governor said he would be willing to accept it if a constitutional majority of both houses agreed that it was the wisest solution of the tax problem.

The senate met on Monday morning but with no business before it ready for action, it adjourned in seven minutes, to meet again Tuesday.

New bills introduced in the house

Monday were as follows:

By Ennis, of Baldwin. To create a state department of revenue.

By Holden, of Clarke. To exempt cheese factories from taxation until January 1, 1925.

By Howell, of Greene. To authorize the controller general to employ a field force to collect special taxes.

By Covington, of Colquitt. To authorize the controller general to employ any competent person as arbitrator in disputed public service corporation tax cases, instead of limiting the appointment of some member of the public service commission.

By Ellis, of Tift and McClure, of Walker. To create a state budget commission.

COMMUNITY CHEST

brought to a close with reports from Mrs. Alonzo Richardson of the Atlanta Association of Women, that the Atlanta Civic Union had been called upon to make a last minute personal canvass Sunday and Monday. The ten canvassers obtained $2,850 in subscriptions in the short time allotted them.

In calling upon different individuals workers for an expression of the spirit in which they had been received in their canvass of business firms and private individuals, Mr. Black said that he expected that thought that something was being done for Atlanta had been the main motive for contribution. This sentiment, he predicted, would carry the campaign. Different team captains and division generals declared that with remarkably few exceptions they thought that something was being done for Atlanta had been the main motive for contribution. This sentiment, he predicted, would carry the campaign. Different team captains and division generals declared that with remarkably few exceptions they thought that something was being done for Atlanta had been the main motive for contribution.

Ben Davies, in reporting for the large subscribers in the negro division, stated that his efforts and those of his co-workers had netted a total of $85,920.42 with many subscribers to hear from.

Prisoners at Atlanta Split.

"In this great campaign we have tried to bring back the old Atlanta spirit and we have succeeded. Many doubted that the old community feeling of pride in accomplishment could ever have been brought back, but through the devotion and enthusiasm of you workers this thing has been accomplished," said Mr. Black.

"I let you have the same bunch to get even before the special session. I have seen money flowing in before during the great Red Cross drives during the war, but I have never witnessed anything like what we had here this week. We have been building for Atlanta, let us stick together for Atlanta," the chairman said.

He asked workers to mail a card with his name and address to Community Chest headquarters in order to have this efficient body of men ready for any emergency that may arise in the future.

No less than $75,000 was needed Monday morning to bring the total figures up to the $300,000 quota set at the beginning of the drive.

With heroic last minute efforts the teams brought in a total of $94,000 during the day bringing the total up to $619,000. The drive had been scheduled to close formally Saturday at noon, but at the suggestion of Eugene Black every worker agreed to a continuation throughout Sunday and Monday, when final figures computed Saturday at noon indicated that efforts would fall short of the objective.

Educational Center.

In thanking the workers for their wholehearted interest and unselfish support Chairman Black said that the campaign had acted as an educational center. Atlantans know what the different organizations are doing. This great philanthropic movement has awakened a great city to the advantages of a community response.

"The campaign has touched the heart strings of the city as nothing else has ever done. I make it apply to creameries as well as cheese factories. The object of his bill, he said, was to encourage an important infant industry in the state.

VICTIM OF ATTACK

AT DAWSONVILLE

DIES; MAN SEIZED

Dawsonville, Ga., November 19.—(Special).—Carl Sewell of Yellow creek district, Dawson county, who was found by the roadside last Wednesday, beaten and shot, died at Dawson hospital, Gainesville, Sunday. An X-ray showed that he had been shot through the right eye with a .32-caliber bullet, which lodged in the back of the head on the left side. He was badly beaten about the face.

John Brady, also of Yellow creek, has been placed in jail charged with the attack. It is said the two men had a quarrel last spring, which had never been settled. Brady has waived trial until superior court convenes next March.

Sewell was buried at Mt. Vernon cemetery today. He is survived by his widow and three small children, his mother and several brothers and sisters.

Why hasn't he married?

HE LIKES pretty women—no doubt about that. He has had a better opportunity to meet them, all over the world, than any other marriageable man in the world. Why hasn't the Prince of Wales married? There have been articles on this question; the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION wanted an answer to the question. You will find the answer in the December number on page 5.

In 30 minutes this can be yours

Just the graceful, charming sort of jacket that every woman loves. "But too expensive", you exclaim. "I haven't the money to buy it, nor the time to make it."

All right . . . one piece of material . . . 36 inches wide . . . the simplest kind of cutting and needlework . . . and it's yours. Time, exactly 30 minutes . . . See page 84

Why has the Companion become the foremost institution for women—directed by a woman?

THE two paragraphs above help to explain why the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION has gained more new readers in the past five years than any other publication in its field.

THE Prince of Wales is entertaining . . . but to send a special correspondent to the English court to find out the one thing that most interests women . . . why he hasn't married . . . that's unusual entertainment . . . that's the COMPANION touch.

A pretty jacket is a nice enough thing . . . the store windows and fashion pages are full of pretty jackets . . . they merely stir a want without satisfying it . . . but a pretty jacket which any woman, anywhere, can have . . . in thirty minutes . . . in thirty minutes, mind you . . . again the COMPANION touch.

There is a big new serial by Edna Ferber in this December number; and a whole page of presents that can be made out of nothing more expensive than cleverly fashioned paper.

There is a Christmas story by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins that will put a catch in your throat. And a booklet (offered on page 52) wherein 50 women tell 50 different ways by which they have picked up extra money.

The highly romantic and the severely practical . . . the love of the big ideal and the careful counting of the extra penny . . . these are the magnificent contrasts that are the modern woman.

The editor of the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION is a woman. The institution she has built is a product of feeling, fully as much as of thinking—an instinctive mingling of the ideal and the real, which so closely mirrors a woman's life that it has become a part of two million lives.

SOUTHERN FRANCE SHAKEN BY 'QUAKE'

Paris, November 19.—An earthquake early today shook the eastern portion of southern France along the Spanish frontier, in what is called the Garonne basin or eastern Pyrenees, causing lightning fixtures to vibrate, doors to swing and dishes to rattle and crackling many walls in Perignan, which seemed to be the center of the disturbance. No other serious damage and no loss of life was reported. Toulouse was the northernmost city to report the shock, which lasted several seconds.

The section known to be affected is an area about 100 miles long by 75 miles wide.

Later Bordeaux reported three slight shocks at there and Montauban two shocks.

Barcelona reported the duration of the quake as from six to seven seconds.

None of these points reported any damage.

"NARCOTICS" SOLD BY NEGRO PROVES BAKING POWDER

Howard Patrick, negro, Monday was turned over by federal inspectors to state authorities for prosecution on a charge of cheating and swindling after an analysis of powder he said to have sold as "dope" proved it to be ordinary baking powder.

Patrick was arrested last week after narcotic inspectors were informed that he was selling narcotics on Auburn avenue. He insisted that he had not violated the Harrison act, and the analysis was made.

Grand Jury Quiz In Grant Killing On in Jonesboro

Jonesboro, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—The Clayton county grand jury today began its searching inquiry into the killing of W. E. Grant, night telegraph operator for the Southern railroad, at Ellenwood, who was shot to death while seated at his instrument early on the morning of September 6. A number of witnesses were called today, but no motion for the murder developed and the inquiry will continue.

Several arrests have been made in the case and the grand jury has ordered upon anyone who has been in the case.

Grant was well known in this section and had been in the employ of the Southern railroad for many years. Although special officers for the railroad and county officials have worked on the case for several weeks now, the shooting remains a mystery.

FRANCO-BRITISH ROW PATCHED UP

office generally was that of impending trouble. Ambassador Herrick, one of the first to arrive and the first to leave, was also the first to announce there would be no break in the case for the German press representatives naturally had the first news. There were general expressions of relief when the news became known, although in the absence of details there was still considerable apprehension.

The compromise reached, it was learned, followed closely the suggestion discussed before the meeting of the council. This was that the ambassadors send Germany a protest against the lack of facilities for the military control mission, but without mentioning what the allies might do in case Germany refused to give the required assurance.

The ambassadors chose two alternative texts, which they proposed to submit to their governments for approval. Both of these texts make it clear to the Germans that the allies mean that the military clauses of the Treaty of Versailles shall be carried out and that the inter-allied military control mission in Germany shall be allowed to function under adequate protection.

No Penalties Named.

Neither of the texts, however, mentioned the penalties the allies would apply in case of the refusal of the German government to give satisfactory reply, it being left implied as a matter of course that some coercive action would follow such refusal.

The French cabinet meeting later approved Premier Poincare's attitude, which could scarcely be separated from the attitude of Jules Cambon, who took a leading part in bringing about the compromise.

While the French cabinet was deliberating, Lord Crewe and Baron d'Hestroy communicated the texts to their respective governments by telephone.

The optimism that set in immediately after the morning session of the League of Nations council was learned just before the hour for the evening session that the British government had not yet been heard from.

Admission of the French cabinet tomorrow made a very bad impression, being regarded as narrowing the chances for a final accord.

The arguments which induced the French to make their concessions are understood to have been that a compromise text of the note to Germany would leave the way open for them to act later if they saw fit, that none of the French rights under the treaty were sacrificed, and that the note was such as to make the German government understand that the allies would insist upon all their prerogatives.

The lapses in Premier Poincare's speech yesterday which appeared to make him say that the French would occupy the Ruhr until all the clauses of the treaty were executed and security for France amply guaranteed were much commented upon in diplomatic circles, as was the official note issued by the foreign office correcting the text of the speech.

The premier's usual precision made the statement all the more surprising. It was made clear at the foreign office that the premier never had in mind the occupation of the Ruhr until the security of France was guaranteed, but that when he referred to the occupied territory he meant the territory expressly mentioned in the treaty—that is, the left bank of the Rhine, including the bridgeheads.

Stones' Man Slippery.

Exclusion of the British, American and other foreign correspondents from the foreign office during today's meeting of the ambassadors was explained as due to the fact that a German correspondent slipped into the crowd the other night when the newspapermen were waiting for word from the premier regarding the decisions of the ambassadors. When this fact was called to the attention of the chancellors a detailed effort to protect M. Poincare, they complained that in such crowds it was impossible always to identify every reporter.

The German in question was a correspondent for the "Hugobinder" paper, the North German Gazette. The head of the premier's office has decided that henceforth only French reporters shall be allowed in the lobby. A protest has been lodged by the Anglo-American Press association.

GERMANY CONCEDES LOSS OF PROVINCES.

Berlin, November 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Chancellor Stresemann and the reichstag committee on foreign relations today devoted six hours to a rambling discussion of the situation in the Rhineland and the Ruhr and then adjourned without having arrived at any definite conclusion.

Party leaders and representatives from the occupied areas, invited as special guests, took part in today's debate, the chancellor having taken the position that the issues must be discussed with local elements and that the committee on foreign relations was a competent body, in that the impending solution was closely wrapped up with Germany's foreign relations.

Would Urge Loyalty.

The fascists in the ranks of all the parties appears to be that the Rhineland and the Ruhr are lost as far as Germany's ability to assert and maintain complete sovereign rights over both areas concerned, and that ways and means must be devised to forestall their complete political detachment or permanent loss to the republic.

"If the Rhineland and the occupied Ruhr sectors are to be put out of our control, we must devise means which will enable them to remain with Germany," said one of the parliamentary leaders.

Chancellor Stresemann advocated "more elbow room" for the occupied zones, permitting the inference that the government was fully reconciled to the plan of allowing the occupied areas to work out their own salvation, even to the extent of permitting the creation of a local parliament or legislative governing body, to which the central government would concede unrestricted administrative au-

Pagan Priest and Christian Cleric Send Up One Prayer for Quake Dead

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.
Tokyo, November 19.—Religious all religions are "carrying on" in Japan's devastated areas. Buddhists of all sects and Shintoists have joined in great religious ceremonies of their faith for the benefit of the quake dead—sounds and services ranging from the westerner and alien to his belief, but services that have touched the heart of the foreigner by their sincerity.

Amid the wreckage of ancient temples, under the great red-lacquered arches of unshattered shrines, and out on blackened mounds of rubbish where thousands of bodies were burned to death in heaps, the priests of Buddha and of Shinto have prayed impartially for all the dead, foreign and Japanese.

Death Has No Creed.

The clanking prayersticks, the lingering echoes of the gong, the solemn appeals to the gods, the priest's prostrate, forehead upon floor—these have been the same for the dead strangers from distant lands that they for the Japanese among whom they died.

And in the few remaining houses of Christian worship in Tokyo and Yokohama—for most of these churches have been destroyed—Protestant ministers and Catholic priests have likewise offered their supplications for the Japanese dead of all faiths—or none—and for foreigners of every creed and color.

Stories are told of Buddhist priests who were burned to death, praying in their shrines and temples—refusing to leave because there was a vast financial loss, but it means the destruction of the physical property of all Christian enterprises in the Tokyo-Yokohama area have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair.

This represents not only a vast financial loss, but it means the destruction of the physical property of all Christian enterprises in the Tokyo-Yokohama area have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair.

Want Open Break.

The authority of such a body would go even to the extent of permitting the enactment of taxation laws, as the central government apparently is convinced it is no longer able to count on federal revenues from the occupied zones, both of which in previous times yielded a tax surplus, in that they were Germany's most productive areas.

The complicated nature of the problem was plainly reflected in the conduct of today's debate, which frequently was enlivened by partisan aspersions, especially when the German nationalist spokesman advocated an open break with France in preference to the French attitude in the direction of a loose condition of autonomy as a foil to French encroachments.

The official attitude, however, appeared to favor a course which would lead to a tolerable understanding with France.

GERMANY TO REFUSE DEMAND FOR PRINCE.

Berlin, November 19.—Chancellor Stresemann, in the course of a lengthy discourse of his policy to his party colleagues last evening, said with emphasis that the crown prince's return "We are threatened with further pressure on account of the return of the crown prince, a bold step, ever, better to suffer new French brutalities than to bear the reproach of the last German who fought in the great war should remain exiled abroad, far from his family."

Cheers greeted the chancellor's statement.

"All this burden must be borne by us," he continued, "in addition to our political burden. We shall probably have to demand for the surrender of the crown prince, and of course, will reject that demand. (Cheers.) Nevertheless, these impending additional political difficulties will remain a grave weight upon us and any increase of these through the creation of a dictatorship and an unconstitutional government would be unbearable."

Coolidge Is Invited To Speak at Grave Of Georgia Soldier

Washington, November 19.—Senator Harris, of Georgia, presented to President Coolidge today an invitation from the American Legion of Rome, Ga., to speak there next Armistice day at memorial services for Charles Graves, whose body was included in the last group of world war dead to be returned from France and selected as the representative of the group for the services held in New York about a year ago.

Mr. Coolidge indicated that he would be glad to accept the invitation, but was unable to give a definite reply so long in advance.

JOHNSON TO BARE PALFLOM STRIPS

on the tax question, He is withholding his view of the Mellon program until he gives it careful study. His decision will be made known in his Chicago speech.

Uncertain On Prohibition.

Prohibition: Johnson's record is mixed. He voted to submit the 18th amendment to the states, but spoke against it. He voted to pass the Volstead act over Wilson's veto, but he opposed the Willis-Campbell beer bill to abolish beer prescriptions.

Tariff: Having voted for the McKinley-McCumber act, Johnson will defend it on the stump. He was a moving figure in the block of 16 western senators who obtained high protective duties on olive oil, nuts and citrus fruits for California in return for supporting the wool and sugar schedules. His tariff record will be one of the major points of attack against him.

Is For Ship Subsidy.

Ship subsidy: Johnson fought for the Harding-Lasky ship subsidy, deserting the progressive insurgents, chiefly because of A. D. Lasker, then chairman of the shipping board, and now the financial general of his presidential campaign.

Child labor: He labored to get the child labor resolution out of committee last year, and will be largely of the leaders in the fight for a constitutional amendment in this congress.

Farm legislation: Johnson has never been a member of the farm bloc, but he supported two of that group's important measures, the truth in fabrics and the filled milk bills.

JOHNSON AND COOLIDGE RENT CHICAGO ROOMS.

Washington, November 19.—Friends of President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson, the two leading candidates for the republican presidential nomination, have engaged hotel rooms for next June at Chicago in anticipation of the national convention being held there.

At republican national committee headquarters, it was stated that the convention city will not be selected until the committee meets here next month. But as reported by the United Press following the recent meeting of the convention subcommittee, Chicago is in the lead for the conclave.

Cleveland, San Francisco and Des Moines are also seeking it.

awful death, that the gods would answer their appeals and arrest the conflagration. Foreign religious workers and Japanese Christians risked their lives, and some sacrificed them in saving and attempting to save others.

Not So Far Apart.

So, after Buddhist and Shintoist, Protestant and Catholic, had alike faced the eternal answer to all things, and after death had passed and them by—the answer still ungiven, or given, as their belief may be—after that they found they could pray together. The Buddhists, Shintoists, Protestants and Catholics; they found they were not so far apart in fundamental faith and hope and helplessness, however irreconcilable their doctrinal dogma and technical tenets may have been.

It will cost somewhere between five and ten million dollars to restore the American Christian enterprises, religious and educational, destroyed in the Tokyo-Yokohama district. Churches, schools and colleges, training centers for Christian workers, refuge homes, residences of Japanese missionaries, and the homes of social workers and teachers of various kinds—all built by American Christians in mission effort and largely supported by funds from American churches and mission boards—have been, in great measure, destroyed or greatly damaged.

Bend Backs To Task.

Leaders here estimate that at least half of the physical property of all Christian enterprises in the Tokyo-Yokohama area have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair.

This represents not only a vast financial loss, but it means the destruction of the physical property of all Christian enterprises in the Tokyo-Yokohama area have been destroyed or damaged beyond repair.

North Georgia Pastors To Meet Here Wednesday

The north Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, which opens formally Wednesday morning at Wesley Memorial church, here, is expected to attract more than 500 preachers, laymen and church officials.

Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, of Huntington, W. Va., will preside over the conference in the absence of Bishop H. W. Murray, of Memphis, who is the president of the ten-million-dollar campaign for superannuated preachers of the conference is expected to be one of the outstanding features of the meeting. The campaign was authorized by the general conference of 1922 and will become effective next January 1.

Dr. Luther E. Todd, of St. Louis, is expected to outline the campaign to the conference in an address Thursday morning.

Preliminary to the formal opening Wednesday, activities of the Widows and Orphans' association will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Wesley Memorial church. In the absence of Rev. A. J. Sears, president of the association, Dr. E. M. Dempsey will preside.

The work of the association is to provide funds for widows and orphans who are left without aid, and the conference session proper is expected to emphasize the importance of the association's objectives.

An address by Dr. Steele is expected to be the concluding feature.

Origin of yellow fever is thought to have been in Africa, the disease being carried to America in connection with the slave trade, according to one theory.

Daily Sessions.

Business sessions of the conference will be held daily from 9 o'clock to 12:30, with an address by Dr. Steele, reports of committees and a meeting of the bishop's cabinet in the afternoon.

Appointments throughout the conference will be announced on the afternoon of the closing day, Monday.

Work of the Christian education movement, which is in the hands of tion, from a material standpoint, of the facilities built up by American missionaries during fifty years. The replacement will be slow and difficult—just as it will be a long, hard job to rebuild the Buddhist temples and the Shinto shrines. But the bones in his solemn garb, the Japanese Christian preacher, the foreign missionary and educator, alike will tell you that the job will be done—and already he is at work to raise the funds.

The Aoyama Gakuin of Tokyo, the largest Anglo-Japanese college in Japan, was a complete loss, with the exception of two dormitories. The buildings that are standing are so damaged as to be useless.

Total Loss $10,000,000.

This loss, established and supported by the board of the Methodist Episcopal church, has been in operation forty years and was the foremost educational enterprise supported by funds from an American church. Its enrollment this year was 3,000 and its alumni include many of the foremost businessmen, government officials and prominent figures in Japan.

The school will carry on in its shacks this winter—necessarily in a very limited way—and representing lives have been sent to the United States to raise the $300,000, which it is estimated will be required to rebuild.

The total property loss of the Methodist church is estimated at about two million dollars. The Presbyterian church losses have been sent to the United States to raise the $300,000, which it is estimated will be required to rebuild.

The same inter-denominational enterprises and those of other denominations will be at least as much more severely affected. Some think a total of ten million dollars' loss is not too large.

Dr. Dempsey, will be given Friday unless the program is changed. Dr. R. H. Bennett, one of the general secretaries of education, will be present as a connectional agent and will deliver an address. Addresses by Bishop Darlington and Dr. Dempsey will further outline the educational program.

Conference Officers.

Officers of the conference, in addition to Bishop Darlington, include Rev. H. C. Emory, of Dalton, secretary; Rev. Addison Maupin, of Atlanta, treasurer; and Rev. H. H. Jackson, of Jackson, statistician.

The legal organization of the conference includes Rev. M. S. Williams, of Athens, president; Dr. E. M. Dempsey, of Atlanta, vice-president; Rev. C. Emory, of Dalton, secretary, and Dr. J. W. Quillian, of Augusta, treasurer.

Ancient Ceremony Rules as Royalty Pays Visit to Pope

Rome, November 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Medieval ceremony marked the official visit today of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, of Spain, to the Vatican. For the first time since 1870, "their Catholic majesties" were received, according to the protocol of the papal court.

The Spanish sovereigns, who journeyed to Italy on the Spanish dreadnaught Jaime Primo, arrived from the naval base at Spezia by special train and were first received by King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy.

Arriving at the Vatican they were met at the foot of the Scala Regia by the papal majordomo, and flanked by a guard of honor they were conducted, with their entire entourage, to the Sala Consistoriale, where Pope Pius and the members of the college of cardinals were waiting, the pontiff seated on his throne.

Offer Homage.

The sovereigns were escorted to the foot of the papal throne by Cardinal Vannutelli, Merry Del Val and Disraeli, and there offered their homage to the holy father. The queen, who was accompanied by her husband, King Alfonso, delivered an address to the pope.

After his address the king occupied a throne beside the queen, and General Primo Rivera, the head of the Spanish military directorate, making obeisance to the pontiff, took his position beside them.

Pope Pius then imparted the apostolic blessing, and retired to the papal library.

Private Audience.

The Spanish sovereigns then received the members of the sacred college and at the conclusion of the reception the king and queen were escorted to the papal library, Pope Pius receiving them in private audience.

Upon their departure the sovereigns visited the basilica of St. Peter's, knelt in prayer before the high altar and visited the tomb of Peter. From the cathedral they returned to the Spanish embassy to the Holy See, where their visit to the pontiff, in accordance with procedure, was returned by the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Gasparri.

From the embassy they returned to the Quirinal palace as guests of the king and queen of Italy. There they received a formal visit from Premier Mussolini and all the members of the government. A formal state dinner in their honor was given in the evening by King Victor Emmanuel.

Man Writes His Will Upon Linen Collar

Monte Carlo, November 19.—Tearing off his linen collar while lying under his overturned automobile last Wednesday, suffering from injuries that later proved fatal, Hugo Futter, 45, a Monte Carlo county rancher, wrote his will on the bit of cloth and also a last message saying he believed himself responsible for the accident, in which his niece, Erna Voelz, 19, also was fatally hurt, it became known here today.

Futter sent for the collar before he died, however, tore it up and made a new will. The message contained the notion that the accident happened at 10 a. m. and that the girl died at 2:10 p. m. The accident victims were not discovered until nine hours after the mishap.

CUSTOMERS WILL DECIDE LOCATION OF NEW STORE

The unusual plan of allowing its customers to determine by vote the location of its salesrooms for auto parts and accessories department has been inaugurated by the Golden Eagle Buggy company, one of the oldest and best known manufacturing plants of this city.

In discussing the plan, H. R. Fischer, treasurer and manager of the company, stated that within the last few years its auto parts and accessories department has grown rapidly and for some time the company has had under consideration advisability of moving this department from its present location on Means street into a new building to be erected for the purpose at the corner of Marietta street and Ponders avenue, just a block from the present location.

One of the primary reasons for the contemplated move, according to Mr. Fischer, is to place the city salesrooms in a more accessible location from the standpoint of local customers. In view of the fact that the contented move is largely for the convenience of customers, it was decided to prepare ballots and ask them to vote on the question, and when the votes are counted, the company will be governed by their decision. It is understood that the vote up to the present stands overwhelmingly in favor of the new location.

Another question on which the customers are voting is which of the existing daily papers is the best advertising medium.

MANY MEET DEATH IN CHILEAN BLAST

Santiago, Chile, November 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Several persons were killed and more than 50 wounded, many seriously by an explosion this morning at the army ammunition factory in the southern suburb of Santiago.

Fire started immediately after the blast but was quickly brought under control.

The workshops of the factory were considerably damaged, windows were broken several blocks away and the detonation caused a near panic among the population.

British Museum Given Valuable Flea Collection

London, November 19.—The scientists of the natural history department of the British museum are delighted at a remarkable bequest from the late Nathaniel Rothschild in the form of the largest and most complete collection of fleas in the world. The collection comprises several thousand specimens, each carefully preserved in a tiny bottle.

Only a wealthy enthusiast could ever have gathered such an exhibition for no government would be willing to spend the money which it cost Mr. Rothschild to gather this collection. And no scientific institution could afford to do so.

Mr. Rothschild often commissioned exploring expeditions to find him specimens of the fleas infesting certain animals or birds in far parts of the world, and he is credited in press accounts of the bequest with having once financed an expedition largely to obtain the flea of the arctic seal.

MILLIONS TAKEN BY FAKE BROKERS

New York, November 19.—Millions of dollars have been lost by small traders in the south through cotton transactions with unscrupulous persons posing as cotton brokers. Thomas Hale, secretary of the New York Cotton Exchange, declared in a statement made public tonight, "doing everything in its power to protect such traders. Mr. Hale said, and is now working with cotton exchanges in the south in an effort to weed out the few exchanges who, the statement said, "we have reason to believe are not doing business in accordance with the rules."

Postoffice Head Held on Charge Of Embezzlement

Macon, Ga., November 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—A. A. Weddington, attorney and acting postmaster at Cochran, Ga., was brought to Macon late this afternoon and placed under a bond of $10,000, charged with embezzling approximately $1,000 from the Cochran postoffice. Weddington waived preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner W. E. Martin and made the bond.

Inspector Joe P. Johnston, in charge of the Atlanta division, stated Monday night that an inspector was sent to Cochran early last week but that no detailed report of the condition of the office at that place had been received. Mr. Johnston said, however, that the alleged shortage was about $1,000, and that the office had been transferred to an acting postmaster until a permanent appointment is made.

Cochran, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—C. A. Weddington has resided in Cochran for several years, moving here from Dublin soon after the creation of Bleckley county. He is a former mayor of Dublin, was active in political affairs of the 12th district, and a prominent lawyer. He has practiced law in the county for about 20 years, and is well connected.

Mr. Weddington had been acting postmaster since April, 1922, pending final appointment. It is understood, he succeeded W. E. Dunham, who had served as postmaster for 15 years.

Later he was made principal of Tech High and two years ago was made superintendent of all Atlanta schools. The system has experienced its greatest growth in attendance for any like period during the two years it has been under his supervision.

REOPEN TUT'S TOMB Howard Carter Directs the Work in Valley of Kings.

Luxor, Egypt, November 19.—Work on the tomb of Tutankhamen was restarted today. The final preparations having been completed, Howard Carter, head of the expedition since the death of the Earl of Carnarvon, removed the outer wood work and opened the iron gates, permitting entry into the passage leading to the ante-chamber, which last season was cleared of its royal treasures.

FORGET PRIMARY Brunswick To Vote Only in General Election.

Brunswick, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—Brunswick will hold an election on December 4 to name one member of the city commission. For the first time in many years the city executive committee has decided that no primary will be held; therefore, the new commissioner will be named in the general election. It seems that the executive committee composed largely of new members, overlooked the fact that the law required that a primary must be held not less than two weeks before the general election. A meeting of the committee was not held until Saturday and under the law the general election must be held on December 4. Therefore, if a primary was called it would have to be held tomorrow, so, under the circumstances, it was decided to dispense with the primary this year.

J. L. Andrews, a present member of the city commission, will, it is generally understood, offer for reelection. If he is to have any opposition it is not known and little talk has been heard of an opposing candidate.

EDUCATORS TO MEET IN BRUNSWICK FRIDAY

Brunswick, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—Prominent educators from practically all counties in the eleventh congressional district will be in Brunswick Friday and Saturday to attend the annual department meeting of the high school association of the district.

J. P. Mott, of Valdosta, is the president of the association, and in a communication to Superintendent C. E. Dryden, of the Glynn county schools, he states that all county superintendents, high school principals and superintendents of city schools in the district have been invited to attend the meeting and that a number of acceptances have been received. The meeting will be held under the direction of Professor Joseph S. Stewart, of Athens, high school inspector, and many interesting topics on the subject of education will be discussed. Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the high school domestic science department of the Glynn High school will tender the visitors a luncheon at the school and at 6 o'clock on the same day the local Parent-Teacher association will entertain with a dinner at the Y. W. C. A. hall.

JACOBS WILL SPEAK TO KIWANIS CLUB

The story in detail of the discovery of the grave of General James Oglethorpe, founder of the Georgia colony and from whom Oglethorpe university obtains its name, will be told to the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon at the Ansley hotel by Dr. Thorstein Jacobs. Dr. Jacobs recently attracted much attention to his efforts when he made an attempt to have the body of General Oglethorpe exhumed and reinterred in Atlanta.

Tax Motorists To Build Roads, Says U.S.C. of C.

Washington, November 19.—Special taxes against motor vehicle owners to cover the entire cost of maintaining improved highways or the equivalent were recommended today by a committee of the United States.

Such a tax would be carried by motor vehicle owners to place the entire cost of transportation on an equality with the steam and electric railways. The committee also recommended that taxes on regulated common carriers operated for hire should bear a definite relation to gross and net earnings rather than to invested capital. This could be met, it was said, by imposition of a gross-net tax in lieu of present fees.

In the case of steam and electric railways, the committee reported, "the investment in roadway is a capital account, and returns on their investment are paid out of income, but on the other hand the steam and electric railways have certain franchise rights in the use of their roadway. By paying the cost of maintenance of the highways, which it uses, the motor vehicle puts itself on an equality as to maintenance with steam and electric railways which pay for the maintenance of their own roadway and structures through direct charges to operation instead of by taxation." Coordination of highway construction and maintenance under centralized administrative agencies is urged to eliminate waste and secure efficiency.

Man Who Employed Ty Cobb First Time Buried at Royston

Athens, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—R. H. McCrary, who died in New Orleans yesterday, following an automobile accident, was at one time cashier of the Athens Bank & Trust company, which failed here about ten years ago. Mr. McCrary was the first man to employ Ty Cobb to play baseball.

Mr. McCrary was connected with the Steam Radiator Manufacturing company in Minneapolis, and was going to New Orleans on business when the automobile accident which caused his death occurred. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. F. G. Birchmore, of Athens, and was at one time a resident of Royston, Ga., where funeral services were held today.

quainted, during his task of drafting his address to congress, with the difficulties besetting the road to tax revision. Although appreciating the obstacles, he is disposed to incorporate the tax subject in his message. Leaders believe it possible that, while giving his approval to Secretary Mellon's proposal in general, the president may leave to the judgment of congress whether it will be practicable to reduce taxes, considering the present commitments upon the treasury and any future burdens, in the form of soldier bonus and other legislation.

The president also is expected to rely largely upon the opinion of republican leaders as to the feasibility of pressing tax revision legislation in the face of the status of the party control of congress.

PUSHBALL CONTEST RECALLS ARGONNE

ancient, traditional and perpetual grudge which, exists between freshmen and those whose worldly wisdom entitles them to the exalted title of sophomore.

We might as well take this thing chronologically—it was worth it.

How It Happened. First, the ball, a huge thing of seven feet in diameter. It was blown up, although it is hard to imagine where all that wind came from. And placed in the center of the football field—on the 50-yard line, to be exact.

The Emory band came out and encircled the giant sphere. They played all manner of snappy tunes.

Then the sophomores trotted on the field just like the teams do in football games. They snake-danced considerably, although it is to be doubted if they would have done so had they realized what was coming.

The freshmen appeared on the lists a few seconds later, and when the two under classes got on the field, people on the side-lines—began to realize what a large and important institution this is we have with us in our good town.

Back and Forth.

The sophomores had the edge on the freshman line, albeit slowly. In the freshmen, once the ball came back to earth, had the advantage on action showing. Neither team advanced farther than the other's thirty-yard line and out-of-bounds was frequently a taint.

It was a good game. Good to watch and provocative of the belief that freshmen and sophomores are sturdy creatures at Emory this year that they were eight years ago.

There's one conclusion after the evening's display in the Mommie match. It was brought along for the benefit of the freshmen, perhaps, as if they get any advantage it arises from the fact that the sophomores have to take the same punishment that tradition has hitherto allowed them to deal out.

Next year's sophomores, after a pushball contest, should be practically immune to punishment. Almost any one of them ought to be able to get a job as cow-catcher on a freight line. And if anybody wants to make a sophomore a nice Christmas present we suggest a pile-driver. A pile-driver would make a nice playmate for one who had been through two pushball games. That is, if anybody can get that.

"Betty Ann" not only goes to sleep nicely, closing both her eyes and wakes up calling "mama" as a real baby does, but she can also be made to wink and blink at the will of her little mother. This achievement is possible only by the patented construction of the eyes, which we were fortunate to get at a high cost, as we want to give our little friends all the pleasure that could possibly be gotten out of a dolly.

"Betty Ann" is stuffed all through, body and limbs, with pure, white, new cotton, which gives her that pleasant, soft, cuddly feeling which every little girl likes in her dolly, as it reminds her of her little sister or brother. We have taken great pains with our manufacturer to insure sanitation all through, workmanship and material.

"Betty Ann's" face can be washed with soap and water, her hair can be combed and brushed, and you can keep her beautiful and cheerful all the time.

"Betty Ann" calls her mama with such a human, child-like voice that you can fool anybody to believe that it is a real baby calling for her mother. She will make an ideal Christmas present. Camp Pike Lumber Priced Too High Claims U. S. Brief

Little Rock, Ark., November 19.—Specific charges that lumber costs were $186,000 in excess of fair cost and that unnecessary labor in removing, rebuilding and transferring materials and buildings resulted in an excess charge to the government of $1,991,000 were made in a bill of particulars filed in United States district court here today in the government's $3,000,000 suit against the James Stewart Construction Company of New York for alleged excess charges in connection with the construction of Camp Pike.

Other allegations made are the bill of particulars, ordered filed on motion of the defense, charged that wasteful handling of small hardware and fixtures resulted in an excess cost of $200,000, that unnecessary hiring of wagons and other equipment and purchase of implements resulted in an excess cost of more than $53,000 and letting of sub-contracts at a cost of $85,000. The bill also alleges that because of general and continuous waste it is impossible for the government to give specific instances throughout the construction of the camp.

WASTE LAND MEET GETS UNDER WAY

New Orleans, La., November 19.—Officials of development organizations and others interested in settling waste lands in the south were here tonight for the opening tomorrow of a forestry, reclamation and home making conference with a program of addresses and discussion that will run through Thursday. The conference, sponsored by the Southern Pine association, the Florida and the Mississippi development boards and the New Orleans Association of Commerce, is expected to result in the organization of a movement looking toward the reclamation, utilization and settlement of waste lands, the creation of more self-supporting farms, especially in the south, and the growth of a new supply of timber for the nation.

The initial session is to be presided over by Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana, and speakers on the program include Governor Parker, of Louisiana; John H. Kirby, president of the Southern Pine association; Representatives William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, and Arthur W. Smith, of Idaho, and Clement S. Evangelists' Sons Are Chief Figures In Comedy of Errors

Los Angeles, November 19.—A staff of humbugging gas struck the nostrils of a chauffeur at the home of George M. Sunday, realtor and son of the evangelist, William A. Sunday, yesterday and in the dramatic developments which followed two others essayed the role of victim in an alleged comedy of errors growing out of a police report labeled: "Attempted suicide."

George M. Sunday, according to a report to the police, was found in a gas-filled room at his home with a rubber tube leading from a nearby jet into his mouth. It was an "attempted suicide," the report stated, and the "instrument used" was a "gas pipe hose." Newspaper men who hurried to the Sunday residence, however, found Sunday, if not entirely recovered from the alleged inhalation of gas, at least lively enough to denounce the police report as gravely inaccurate. As proof of inaccuracy, he produced his younger brother, William A. Sunday, Jr., reclining upon a couch and looking up, and anxious to admit that it was his illness—a touch of ptomaine—which had caused all the excitement. In the end, however, George Sunday issued an announcement that the police report was "all right" and that he was willing to let it "stand as it is," an announcement which sent both newspapermen and police away satisfied.

Charles S. C. Sunday, who is the Rev. William A. Sunday, who is conducting a revival campaign here and who is today celebrating his 61st birthday, has received the following telegram from his son, William A. Jr., concerning the report sent out from Los Angeles as to George Sunday: "Pay no attention to newspaper report concerning George. Absolutely false. Congratulations on your birthday. We love you, dad. Billy."

Johnson To Fight 'Hand-Picking' Of G.O.P. Nominee

Washington, November 19.—A "pious choice" by republican voters of their candidate for president in 1924 was demanded today by Hiram Johnson. Over a desk piled with telegrams and letters offering support for his candidacy, Senator Johnson told callers today that he would make a fight in every state possible against the "hand-picking" of delegates to the national convention.

"I believe the rank and file of the republican party has the right to express their preference for their presidential candidate," he said. "I am seeking to have that preference expressed. I'll accept the result with equanimity, but I insist that the rank and file shall determine the candidate of that party rather than a few politicians."

TRADE IN FILMS HELD INTERSTATE

Washington, November 19.—The establishment of branch houses in the different states where motion picture films may come to rest before being placed on exhibition does not relieve that industry of its interstate feature, the supreme court announced today in a case from Omaha, Neb., brought by Charles G. Binnerup.

The exchange and other distributors that the federal government was without jurisdiction in the proceeding which Binnerup brought under the Sherman anti-trust law for the reason that, although the films were transported from state to state, they passed out of interstate commerce before being distributed for exhibition purposes by the branch houses in Nebraska. The lower federal courts took that view, but the supreme court, in an opinion by Justice Sutherland, held that the federal laws did apply to such transactions as those complained of by Binnerup.

Pointing out that the contracts made by Binnerup with the distributors contemplated the leasing of a commodity manufactured in one state to be transported and used in another, Justice Sutherland declared that the business of the distributors was clearly interstate. "This business," he asserted, "consisted of manufacturing the commodity in one state, finding customers for it in other states, making contracts of lease with them, and transporting the commodity leased from the state of manufacture into the states of the lessees."

"If the commodity were consigned directly to the lessees," he added, "the interstate character of the commerce throughout would not be disrupted."

The circumstance that in the course of the process the commodity is consigned to a local agency of the distributors to be held until delivery to the lessee in the state, does not, the court declared, put an end to the interstate character of the transaction and does not transform it into one purely intrastate.

"The immediate delivery to the agency did not end and was not intended to end the movement of the commodity," Justice Sutherland stated. "It was merely held as a convenient step in the process of refitting it to its final destination. The general rule is that where transportation has acquired an interstate character it continues at least until the load reaches the point where the parties originally intended that the movement should finally end."

EMORY LAW SCHOOL MEETS BAR STANDARD

New York, November 19.—Thirty-nine law schools in the United States comply fully with the standards set up by the American Bar association as required of candidates for admission to the bar, it was announced today. Nine comply partially and will have done so fully by 1924. The standards are: Two years college study as a requirement of admission; three years course devoted entirely to scholarship work, provision of an adequate library; presence of a large enough teaching staff giving all its time to its work to insure personal acquaintance and influence with the whole student body. Fully qualified schools include: Emory (Atlanta, Ga.); Trinity (Durham, N. C.). Partially qualified schools are those which have some courses of study not complying with the standards or which admit more than 10 per cent of students not complying. In 1924, Florida and West Virginia, now partially qualified, will have done so fully; in 1925, Georgia and Tennessee; in 1926, Alabama.

Sunday was spent in a round of entertainment and sight-seeing, with a banquet at night.

News Outside the Door

The red-headed woodpecker, ranging from southern Canada east of the Rocky mountains to the Gulf of Mexico, carries in his brilliant plumage the mark of his divine origin. Pious, son of Saturn and father of Faunus, was the spirit of the woodlands, endowed with prophecy. When he spoke, what he said was true. Perhaps that is why we "knock wood" when we want what we say to continue true.

Circe, the beautiful sorceress, found Pleus hunting and fell in love with him. When he rejected her advances she flew into a passion and changed him into the woodpecker who "knocks wood" all day and is still a weather prophet.

Red head and neck, bluish back; upper wings black, lower white; white belly and breast; upper tail white, lower black, many beautiful "Circes" have loved him since, but he keeps on hunting grubs. He destroys many insect enemies of the grain crop. In autumn he likes the fleshy berries of Virginia creeper and mountain ash. Circe, who changed men into pigs, made the woodpecker, perhaps, her pigs would have plenty of grain.

SHAFT REMINDED HER OF DEAD SON, WOMAN EXPLAINS

Paris, November 19.—The authorities of the village of Burey near Paris, now are proceeding with construction of a soldier's monument after overcoming a woman's opposition. As fast as the foundation for the monument was dug it was filled in during the night by mysterious hands. The culprit was found to be a woman named Morineau, who, living opposite the site, said that as her son had been killed in the war she could not bear the thought of having such a constant reminder of her loss. She was fined twice but as her offense continued she was locked up.

Test This Out For Yourself—

MANY people who drink coffee regularly are troubled with insomnia; or they feel nervous, "head-achy," or suffer from indigestion.

It may be hard for such men and women to believe that coffee is responsible for the way they feel. Because they have always drunk coffee, it hardly seems possible that this old habit could cause trouble.

But there is one sure way to find out whether coffee is harming you. Just stop its use for a week or so, and drink Postum.

Postum is a pure cereal beverage—absolutely free from caffeine, the drug in coffee, which disturbs the health and comfort of many.

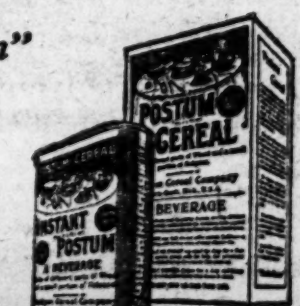

After a week or two on Postum, you will sleep better and feel better; then your own good judgment should decide whether you go back to coffee or continue on the Road to Wellville with Postum.

Sold by grocers everywhere!

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water; Postum Cereal (in package) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

Moving more merchandise is only a matter of telling your story often enough.

CHICAGO CHOSEN FOR G. O. P. MEET

Chicago, November 19.—All doubt in the minds of Chicagoans that they would be the city to house the republican national convention next year was dispelled Monday by Fred Q. Upham, treasurer of the G. O. P. national committee.

The question has been definitely settled, according to Upham, and the republican hosts will come trooping back as of yore.

The national committee will fix the date for the meeting at Washington next month. It is expected to come some time in June.

With Upham's definite assurance, local managers of the prospective republican candidates perked up their ears and began to dust out the various headquarters.

Managers took the Florentine room at the Congress hotel, and the Elizabethan room was reserved for Senator Hiram Johnson, former Governor Frank O. Lowden, who has not yet announced his candidacy—if any—also reserved several rooms at this hotel for convention week.

A color scheme of old ivory and French blue is carried out in furnishings and draperies. All around the room there are built-in seats with blue cushions and comfortably padded walls, and long narrow tables for serving.

In the center varnished round tables are used.

On the right a charming little "waiting nook" has been arranged—a large settee and comfortable chairs for waiting for a delayed appointment of much of its usual annoyance.

The gay upholstery used here gives just the needed contrast to accentuate the chosen color scheme. Opposite the settee, there hangs a large polychrome mirror with console table beneath and torches on either side.

On opening day there was an exquisite basket of pink roses on this table—one of the many gifts to the hostess of the tea room. Everywhere were chrysanthemums, roses, and carnations, bringing greetings and good wishes from the many friends of Mrs. Blackburn.

The Blackburn already has won the favor of the business man and woman who drops in for a quick lunch. The club luncheons and dinners are well balanced, substantial meals and an à la carte service also is offered.

One feature of The Blackburn which already has won high praise is the special Sunday evening dinner, when not only a wonderful dinner is offered but music as well by a three-piece orchestra of unusual merit. This orchestra was one of the attractions for opening day.

Intensive Farming Employed in Coweta, Says Judge Brown

On about one-half the acreage that produced 2,917 bales of cotton in 1922, Coweta county is yielding 3,970 bales this year, according to Judge James E. Brown, of Newnan, who is in Atlanta this week presiding for United States Commissioner W. C. Carter, who has gone on a business trip to his Oklahoma plantation.

The increase in the cotton crop and a bumper crop of peanuts which is finding a ready and profitable market for new planters, according to Judge Brown, he is editor and publisher of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, editorial columns he has strongly urged Coweta farmers to plant peanuts.

"Until recently the farmers were slow to plant peanuts," he said, "but Newnan now has a large peanut shell plant, and this season the Coweta Cotton Oil company, which operates the peanut sheller, has paid out about $30,000 for peanuts."

"Peanuts are bringing around $140 per ton, or about the same as a bale of cotton, and Coweta county alone has raised 3,000 tons of peanuts this year."

Mistah Speakh—
More we reconsider—

Representative Knight, of Berrien, is one of the clearest thinkers in the assembly. He has a habit of deciding what he wants and then driving straight to his objective. It is impossible until he reaches his goal is reached. Monday he decided that no good purpose could be served by working all night, so at 4:45 o'clock he introduced a motion to adjourn. The motion carried unanimously, but was the innocent cause of an atrocious crime—

For Representative Perryman, of Talbot, commented that "Knight believes in working in the daytime." Frightful!

Representative Boswell, of Greene, is the author of a new measure to provide for collection of delinquent taxes. His bill would make the department an adjunct of the comptroller general's office, with appointment of deputy tax collectors placed in the hands of the comptroller general. He says that the house will not vote for creation of an entire new department, and that deputies should be appointed without regard to political considerations.

If every member who wishes to speak on the income tax question uses up the full hour allowed to him under the "rule of the house," how long will the session last? Work out the problem yourself. It's too much for this column.

Both women members of the house are remarkable for the infrequency of their speeches. They hardly ever arise to address the house. Both vote on every question that comes up, and, apparently, follow the majority vote unflinchingly. Between votes, Mrs. Napier, of Bibb, is generally busy with pen and ink, while Miss Hampton, of Fulton, faithfully embroiders.

When the senate begins to amend the general tax act, when the house begins to amend the Landlord income tax bill, when both go back to the houses of origin—if they pass the consensus of opinion is that the bills will both go into conference committee before agreement is reached. It will, at any rate, be an interesting contest.

Fi Fa Resolution.

Alderman Carpenter's resolution to refund fi fa charges to all persons who pay up before expiration of five days' grace after receipt of fi fa notice was ruled out of order on an opinion given by Assistant City Attorney Wood, as quoted by Alderman W. B. Hartsfield. It had gone to council with one adverse and one favorable recommendation, each signed by two members of the council.

Alderman Carpenter then introduced an amendment to the city tax ordinance for the year ending October 15, which would make 1923 taxes an exception to the general rule. The measure was referred to the ordinance committee. The temper of council, apparently, was against refund of the costs, although the question was not put to a vote. A majority of members of the ordinance committee have expressed themselves against the refund.

Approval of council was voted without dissent to the request of the board of education that it be authorized to proceed with work on the proposed Junior High schools and the Booker T. Washington (Negro) Junior-Senior High school. Councilors on both projects have agreed that the city they had canceled the contracts. City Attorney James L. Mayson had given an opinion that the contractors had no grounds for cancellation and that the city could complete the buildings and hold the contractors, or their surety bonds, liable for any difference between the guaranteed contract price and actual cost of the work to the city. Approval of the board's plan was voted on a resolution introduced by Edward H. Inman, councilman from the eighth ward and chairman of the schools committee of council.

Work on none of the three buildings was delayed more than a day, it was stated by A. Ten Eyck Brown, architect of the bond issue school building program and under whose direct supervision the buildings are to be completed. Armed with City Attorney Mayson's ruling, the supervising architect proceeded with the work on the buildings in order that they might not be any longer in the hands of the contractors when they are ready for occupancy by more than 2,000 boys and girls who are now dividing time with senior high school pupils in the Boys' and Girls' High schools.

Chest Gift Refused.

Debate on the resolution asking 1924 council to appropriate $50,000 to the community chest was cut off by referring the resolution direct to the 1924 finance committee without a vote. Alderman N. Bagesdal, chairman of the 1923 finance committee, moved to refer. Councilman Allen Couch announced

Want Tracks Removed.

Alderman Claude E. Buchanan introduced a resolution "requesting the Georgia Railway and Power company to remove its street car tracks from Spring street between Luckie and Walnut streets."

The resolution was adopted. The street car company has the right to remove its tracks to maintain car tracks along the block and they can be removed only by voluntary action of the company, with permission of the Public Safety Service commission, after all property owners along the block have given their approval.

Plaza Street in the twelfth ward was officially changed in name to "Ridgely road," making it a continuation of the city and county road.

Work on repaving the street in front of Wesley Memorial church was ordered suspended during the Methodist conference to be held this week.

Alderman W. B. Hartsfield introduced a resolution asking 1924 council to provide for removal of the city stockade from the present site, which is in view of the new Girls' high school. The measure was referred to the 1924 finance committee.

Alderman Buchanan's amendment to the city ordinance to forbid parking on the east side of Courtland street in front of the city auditorium was adopted for convenience of people attending concerts and meetings at the auditorium.

The series of resolutions introduced at last session by Alderman J. R. Buchanan and which were reported for adoption by a majority of the charter revision committee, were referred to the city auditorium.

The first resolution, which was adopted by a majority of the city auditorium, was to raise the city's annual budget from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

Civic Organizations Urged To Help Raise Boys' Fund

Members of the Elbert County Boys' club, who will represent Georgia at the national boys' congress at Chicago early in December. The Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a $500 fund to pay expenses of the team to Chicago.

Members of the senior division of the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations Monday were asked by officials of the Junior Chamber to contribute to the $500 fund being raised by the Junior body to send the champion Georgia boys' club representatives to the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago. Three team members and two trainers will leave Atlanta December 1 to represent the state in the National Boys' congress, which will be held as a part of the exposition.

Subscriptions for the fund should be sent to L. Leon Williams, secretary of Junior Chamber of Commerce, or to the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, 100 Peachtree street, N. E.

A list of those contributing to the fund will be published each morning.

G. V. Cunningham, state secretary of the International Live Stock exposition, was in Atlanta Monday completing arrangements for the fund campaign. He was present at a conference of chamber officials.

The team was selected in competition of 55 counties of the state in which more than 10,000 members of boys' clubs have been organized. The team was selected by the Georgia boys' club association for the national contest.

T. L. Ashby, eighth district supervisor, and W. P. Hull, Elbert county agent for boys' club, were in Atlanta Monday completing arrangements for the fund campaign. He was present at a conference of chamber officials.

Georgia teams have always done well in the national contests," Mr. Cunningham stated. "Our teams won first prize in 1920, fourth prize in 1921 and second prize in 1922. Our teams recently won an interstate competition with teams from Tennessee, and our chances for the national meet are good."

We are willing to do all in our power to send the representatives to Chicago because it will be both educational to them and to the instructors who accompany them. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has undertaken to sponsor the fund for Atlanta and Georgia in order that our state winners may go to the national meet.

Help Georgia Farmers.

"The results of the contest whether our team wins or not will be reflected in the work these boys do when they return to their homes," said Mr. Cunningham. "It is a fine and patriotic thing for the Atlanta chamber to raise the funds to send the members of the boys' club to the national contest. I congratulate members of the body on the service they are thus rendering Georgia farmers and stock raisers. The Atlanta spirit has again shown that it is more than a local pride; it is a state wide one, and has done much to make Atlanta the metropolis of the south."

Georgia Starts Prepping for Alabama Game

Squad Survives Vandy Game Without Serious Injuries; "Bus" Kilpatrick Still Out

BY WALTER G. COOPER, JR.
Athens, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—Back home from Nashville and Vanderbilt, the Georgia squad is not in as bad condition as might be expected after such a disastrous affair. To have lost such a heartbreaking game and to return in a crippled condition would be too much for a team to stand. In the matter of injuries, the Bulldogs are no worse off than before.

There are minor bumps, bruises, and the like that result from every scrap, but fortunately no serious accidents in the way of sprained ankles and injured knees. The hospital list at present is headed by "Buster" Kilpatrick, the only member of the regular backfield quartet who did not go to Nashville. Mark Anthony went with the team, but did not get into the fray. It is hoped that he will improve enough by Saturday to start against the Crimson Tide of Alabama.

Probably the unluckiest fate never hovered so persistently around any gridiron star as it has over Anthony. Two years ago in the Georgia-Harvard game he received an injury to his arm. He stayed on the firing line for some weeks, but finally had to submit to doctoring. Nearly the whole of last season injuries kept him out of games, and he spent much of the time flat on his back in the hospital.

Anthony Injured.
When Mark returned to the fold a little later this fall the hopes of followers of the Red and Black were boosted considerably, but they did not count on the hoodoo of fate that continually dogs Mark. He has not been able to play in many of the battles this season. The present state of his injuries is, however, not so bad but that he is expected to be injected into the battle with the Crimson.

Georgia has no alibi to offer for the defeat at the hands of the Commodores. Vandy was undoubtedly superior on last Saturday. The Bulldogs got a good break early in the battle and failed to take advantage of it. Their opponents seized upon the first favorable stroke of fortune and shaped it into a touchdown. Once ahead, the Commodore machine became a steamroller and could not be stopped.

Alabama is next on the menu for the Bulldogs. This game is slated to be very hard for the Athenians to annex after the Waterloo at Nashville. At any time the Crimson Tide of 1923 would be hard to take into camp, but now that Georgia has lost her strike the task is doubly difficult.

Everything the Red and Black warriors had to spring was expended in the vain efforts against Vandy. The Alabama will therefore be primed exactly for the attack of the Bulldogs, and unless Coach Woodruff and his corps of mentors can develop new offensive tactics their scoring machine will meet a defense well coached to cope with it.

This afternoon a light practice was held. The long trip home was rather wearing, so the squad will not really get a healthy workout before Tuesday

P. G. A. PLANS PRELIM PLAY

New York, November 19.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sectional qualifying rounds, one in the east and another in the west, will precede the next annual open championship of the United States Golf association. It was announced at the opening session today of the annual meeting of the Professional Golfers' association. It also was voted to hold next year's professional tournament at the French Lick Country club from September 14 to 20, inclusive.

In each section of the open tournament qualifying round there will be conducted a thirty-six hole medal play round and the forty low qualifiers and ties will be eligible for championship play. The dates of the sectional rounds, although not definitely set, are expected to fall on the Wednesday and Thursday prior to the open championship.

This action by the P. G. A. confirms a prediction made several weeks ago, and is the outcome of an attempt to reduce the unwholly fields which have been reported for open title play in the past several years. Such a plan was recommended by the P. G. A. last year, and this year the United States Golf association placed the conduct of the championship in the hands of the professional organization.

The professional championship tournament at French Lick Springs will be preceded by sectional qualifying rounds, whereby a total of 64 from all sections will become eligible for championship play.

The P. G. A. championship will open with 36 holes of medal play by means of which the field of 64 will be reduced to 32, and thereafter daily match play of 36 holes will continue.

DETROIT, Mich., November 19.—A drive to raise $350,000 for the expenses of the American Olympic games team, by popular subscription, was announced by General Henry T. Allen, vice-president and executive officer of the American Olympic committee, at a banquet of the A. A. U. here Monday night.

England has raised $200,000, Allen said. Citing the average physical weakness of American men as revealed by the draft, he declared: "The physical prowess of American athletes will be tested as never before."

"The American delegation to the classic will be the largest we ever sent. Americans will appear in more events than ever before, and, in some of them, for the first time. It is our patriotic duty to support them."

Bout Is Postponed.
Pittsburgh, November 19.—A ten-round boxing bout between Sam Mandell and Cuddy De Marco, scheduled for tonight, was called off. Mandell suffered an injury to his jaw while having a tooth pulled.

A PIECE FOR THE PAPER

SOME SUGGESTIONS.
If pushball is to attain any great popularity in the south, having been introduced with such success Monday afternoon by Emory university, there should be a set of rules, and since we never have been accused of being authoritative on anything, we hasten to make some suggestions, in the hope of being, at some happy day, casually referred to as "one of the south's leading authorities on pushball." Nothing could please us more.

So if the people at Emory university and at other places will bend a listening ear, we will offer our suggestions. Might say that all Emory Freshmen and Sophomores not feeling like bending an ear this morning are cheerfully excused. Their ears are probably bent anyway.

A PARTIAL LIST OF RULES.
1. That the game be divided into four separate periods, called First, Second, Third and Fourth Slaughter, the first period to begin at sunrise and last until breakfast, the second to begin after breakfast and last until lunch, the third to run from lunch to dinner and the fourth from dinner until the supply of Freshmen and Sophomores is exhausted.

2. That referees and umpires be given some distinctive mark, like a cowbell or a horse-collar, so that they can be distinguished from the participants. No referee can put his heart in his work when he has a Freshman sitting on his neck and a Sophomore's shoe occupying bachelor quarters in his eye-socket.

3. That the ball retain its present size, seven feet in diameter, but that in case of a lost ball, players shall look for the ball five minutes before dropping another.

4. That stretcher-bearer foursomes have right of way on all parts of the course.

5. That if more than one pitcher of water be poured into the face of a player on the sidelines, he be disqualified for attempting to mix water polo with pushball.

NOT MANY MORE.
6. That no Freshman who matriculates after the game begins be allowed to participate. This would give the first-year men an undue advantage, since no man ever matriculated in the Sophomore class without taking up several days in doing so.

7. That any player caught attempting the trick of hiding the ball under his jersey be ruled out of the game on account of unnecessary exertion.

8. That any player found leaving the field with another player's collarbone or scapula be forced to return to the field and place the stolen member in the portion of the field reserved for that purpose.

9. That in case of a tie both sides be armed with sawed-off shot guns and 100 rounds of ammunition each. Pushball is too strenuous for continued playing, and less dangerous means should be called upon to settle ties.

10. That all these rules be abolished, in order to keep the pastime from becoming too technical.

Emory Gridiron Race Ends in Tie

Emory, University, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—The sophomores and juniors-seniors played a scoreless tie this morning in a post-season game intended to decide the Emory university football championship. At the end of the schedule last Monday the sophomores and the upperclassmen were tied for first place, both teams winning four games and losing only one.

Both teams had several good chances to score but each time they flizzed away their chances on attempts at field goals.

SHIFTING THE BALL.
What is the proper way for a runner to shift the ball from one arm to the other, and when should it be done?

Answered by Glen "Pop" Warner, football coach. University of Pittsburgh for past eight years. Teams undefeated five of eight years. Former athletic director Carlisle Indians. Successful coach for 28 years.

The proper way to shift the ball is to push the ball across the body while grasping one end of it with the hand which originally held the ball and grasp it with the free arm as the shift is being made. The shift should never be made when in a mass of players because one arm is likely to be jerked away during the shift and result in a fumble. When the runner is in the open field, shifting the ball quickly is advantageous in order to use the occupied arm to ward off a tackler, because a tackler will usually dart from the side on which the back carries the ball in order to avoid the stiff arm.

Frankie Deliberately "Runs Out" of Match Charges Matchmaker

Frankie Garcia, highly-touted boxer who won many friends on his other appearances in the city, has run out of his match here tonight with Joe Ritchie, according to announcement made Monday by Duke Barry, matchmaker for the 108th cavalry, which organization is staging the bouts of the evening.

Tim O'Dowd, however, whose last appearance in a local ring was last Tuesday night when he settled the age-old grudge between himself and Lew Silver by winning a decision over the latter lad, has agreed to meet Ritchie. The other battles on the card will go as advertised.

In securing the services of O'Dowd, the newly crowned featherweight champion of the south, a good battle looms, for with Tim traveling at the best pace of his short but colorful career, many followers are of the opinion that the feature attraction will attract more attention with O'Dowd, on the card than Garcia.

Have Met Before.
Be it known that Ritchie and O'Dowd have tossed leather before. The Philly "convener" claims a decision over the Atlanta entry, but the astute manager of Tim readily shows newspaper clippings from the Louisville papers where the contest was held, that one paper gave Ritchie the fight, one gave it to Tim and the third called it a draw. But all the papers voted the contest the best ever witnessed in Louisville.

Matchmaker Barry, in discussing the withdrawal of Garcia at the last minute, vehemently stated that Garcia ran out of the encounter for no other reason than that he was afraid Ritchie would defeat him—and defeat him decisively. "Blackie Raglio, who is acting as Garcia's manager, wired me at the very last minute that Garcia had broken his right hand on Saturday," stated Barry. "I have several friends in Memphis and phoned them to investigate the injury, they all informed me that Garcia shows no sign of an injured hand. It is my honest opinion that Garcia realized that Ritchie was tough opposition and deliberately ran out of the encounter."

Tim Cancels Date.
O'Dowd, through his manager canceled an engagement to box in Tampa, when Barry sought him out regarding Tim taking Garcia's place, as the champion was eager to meet Ritchie again to decide who really is the better man. Only after according to the best terms that O'Dowd ever received for a boxing contest was the match clinched and from present indications will surpass the original contest.

No changes will be made in the other two 10-round bouts, that will feature "Shifty" Kelly, of Memphis and New Orleans, who mingles with Fearless Ferns, local clever lightweight, or with the "Irish Benny" Fleider and "Tank" Grantham opening 10-round.

The choice seat reservations on sale at Chess' place and the Rex, will continue until just before the show opens at 8:30 o'clock, and judging by the manner that the pastebards are being disposed of, a banner crowd will see a banner show.

Three Undeclared Teams In Western Conference
Chicago, November 18.—Three undeclared Big Ten eleven rounded into the home stretch tonight in the race for Western conference championship honors with every indication of a neck-and-neck finish when they go under the wire next Saturday.

Two contests will decide the issue. In one of them Michigan and Minnesota, both unbeaten, will clash at Ann Arbor in a battle from which, excluding the possibility of a tie, one eleven will emerge a champion for the first time. In the other, Illinois, with a clean record, will face Ohio State at Columbus with the Illinois a topheavy favorite to win and share championship honors with the winner of the Michigan-Minnesota contest. Should the Buckeyes go on a rampage and kick with every indication of a neck-and-neck finish, the winner of the Wolverine-Gopher contest would stand the undisputed champion.

The Ann Arbor contest will be the focus of interest in the conference. Minnesota has grown stronger with maddeningly by its 20 to 7 victory over Iowa Saturday, while Michigan's narrow squeak in its game with Wisconsin and the fact that its list of casualties was increased have not added to its potential strength. The "dope," the nebulous quantity that so often means so little, indicates that Minnesota has grown stronger with each game, while Michigan does not display the strength of last year's season. Minnesota and Wisconsin played a scoreless tie game October 27, and yesterday Michigan defeated Wisconsin 6 to 3. By yesterday Minnesota licked Iowa 20 to 7, while the best Michigan could do against the Hawkeyes two weeks ago was 9 to 3. In addition to Uteritz and others, Michigan will enter its most crucial struggle without the services of Jack Blott, its star center, hurt in yesterday's game. The outlook for the Wolverines is one to cause them concern.

Grange Given Rest.
Illinois, headed by its fighting ace, "Red" Grange, sensation of the season in the conference, is expected to give everything it has in the Ohio struggle. The Illini, who won an easy 27 to 0 victory over the Mississippi Aggies yesterday, allowed Grange and most of the regular backfield to sit on the bench, but probably will take no chances next Saturday on having an unsullied record spoiled.

All the Big Ten teams will engage in conference contests in their last game of the season. Wisconsin will meet Chicago at Chicago with the Badgers favored to win; Iowa will go against Northwestern at Evanston a heavy favorite over the Purple, and Purdue will meet Indiana at Bloomington with the Boilermakers given the edge.

Standing of Western conference teams:

TEAM.	Won.	Lost.	Percentage.	Points Made.	Opponents' Points.
Illinois	4	0	1.000	55	8
Michigan	2	0	1.000	38	8
Minnesota	2	0	1.000	54	21
Chicago	4	1	.800	77	16
Iowa	1	4	.200	45	78
Wisconsin	1	2	.333	55	18
Indiana	1	1	.500	35	69
Purdue	1	3	.250	12	62

Madison Aggies Easy Winners

Madison, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—The curtain to the 1923 football season for Madison was rung down this afternoon when Coach Rentz's Madison Aggies took the Tenth District Aggies into camp by the score of 35 to 3, at the Morgan County fair grounds.

The local team, playing without the services of two of its stars, did not hit its stride until the second quarter when three touchdowns were scored. "Minnie" Few, who has been the outstanding star man for the Aggies, was not in uniform on account of a wrenched knee. Coach Rentz sent in his scrubs in the last quarter.

"Red" Adams, another regular, was able to play only one quarter due to an injury to his foot. The visitors took the ball to the local's 30-yard line in the first quarter from which point Bowers kicked a pretty field goal for the visitor's only score.

For the rest of the game play took place in their territory.

Allen and Reese plunged through the visiting team's line again and again for substantial gains. Allen ran 40 yards around end in the third quarter going out of bounds on the 1-foot line. The local Aggies who have made a good record this season will close the season with a return game at Sparta on Thanksgiving day.

Stanton Taken to Hospital With Infected Leg; Hunt May Report For Practice Today

Georgia Tech football players enjoyed the first real holiday of the practice season Monday afternoon when Coach Alexander announced that there would be no work until Tuesday afternoon. The holiday came because of the fact that Tech will have any game until Thanksgiving day which is several days off.

As no practice was held, the exact list of injured and minor casualties that resulted from the Kentucky game could not be learned, but at least two of the dependables have gone to the hospital for John Stanton and Felton McConnell turned up sick after the game Saturday afternoon. John was suffering with a chill and a badly infected leg that has been nursing no little worry for more than two weeks. Felton had a badly sprained hip. Joe Fry is steadily improving at St. Joseph's hospital, while Hunt is moving around the Georgia Tech campus faster than he did last week and will be out in uniform today. Big Farnsworth's knee has refused to improve and he is still hobbling around on crutches.

Practice To Be Light.
Practice this afternoon will not be the usual Tuesday afternoon scrimmage but only light signal drills, hitting the dummy and other minor tactics.

Trinity Works For Newberry

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., November 19.—The Trinity Blue Devils are rapidly mastering the Washington and Jefferson system of football, and after a week's rigid gridiron practice the team has shown a remarkable improvement in every style of play. Head Coach Alexander and Assistant Coach Burdette are confident that the Methodists will present a stronger front against Newberry College a week from today than they have shown at any time during the present season.

The team rested today. The players will have a brief work-out on Hanes Field during this afternoon. The rest of the week will see the squad continuing the systematic style of play borrowed from Coach Alexander's alma mater, and by the time of the coming of Newberry to the local camp the Blue Devils will be in fine fighting trim with many new plays on their fighting menu. Up to this point in

Rockne Will Not Help Army Team

South Bend, Ind., November 19.—Knute Rockne, coach of the famous Notre Dame eleven, has definitely decided that he will not go to West Point to assist in coaching the Army for the annual battle with the Navy, he told the United News Monday night.

Rockne considers the two remaining games on the Irish schedule too difficult to entrust to his assistants. The season Trinity has won three games and lost four. Two battles remain to be fought—the one with the South Carolinians on November 24 and the final one with Davidson at Charlotte on Thanksgiving. The locals feel fairly confident as to the outcome of the annual battle with the Navy, but the eleven a stiffer contest is in store. Since only three practice days fall between the two battles, Trinity will face a hard week of drilling on Monday afternoon.

HARVARD AND YALE MEET SATURDAY

Cambridge, Mass., November 19.—For the third successive year the Harvard football team is making its first drive of the season before the Yale game as the underdog. The undefeated Yale team rises as favorite, and doubtless will until game time.

There are a few Crimson followers, however, who, because Harvard teams have risen to dizzy heights to defeat great Bulldog teams in the past, expect their team to do the unexpected again this year. They rely on the customary psychology again to twist the tail of the Bulldogs.

But if the past records of the two teams mean anything, if teams ever have been counted on to run true to form, then the hope of a Harvard victory this year seems forlorn.

All through the season Yale has been the better team. There were evidences of strength in the Harvard camp, but for some strange reason, Harvard suffered its most humiliating defeat of the season, and while Brown was running over Harvard, Yale beat Princeton 27 to 0.

There is one little fact that holds up Crimson hopes. Harvard's line is stronger than the Princeton forward wall, and the flashy Yale backs may have more trouble getting around and through the Harvard defenses than they did against Princeton.

If the big Crimson line does develop into a stone wall Saturday, Harvard will fight for a scoreless tie. A tie score would be considered a victory for the Crimson.

The Harvard squad so far as injuries are concerned is in fine shape. Tubby Grew, a good guard, was injured severely in the Brown game, but it is probable that he will be able to play Saturday. Halfback Hammond was also bumped a bit, but he is in shape to start in the Yale game if needed.

The rest of the regular will be in good shape, and Coach Fisher can start almost any combination that his board of strategists might decide upon. The last practice in the stadium will be held Thursday afternoon. After the customary two hours' hard barred game, the Yale country club to remain until a few hours before the game.

Race Season In East Nears End

Bowie, Md., November 19.—The last meeting of the eastern racing season, the most prosperous that has ever favored the horse-racing business in the United States, will begin Tuesday on Prince George's track with Admiral Grayson's famous three-year-old challenger, My Own, entered in the feature race. This is the Prince George handicap at one mile and a furlong with an added value of $7,500. Dunlin, King Solomon's Seal, High Prince, General Thatcher and Home stretch are some of the others entered. The meeting will run for 11 days and some time before the horses are placed on the cars again to disperse to their winter quarters or ride to the southern tracks. Zev and My Own may meet in a match race to decide the still lingering dispute which began before the Zev-Danvers race. It is even possible that Carl Wiedemann's In Memoriam, the Kentucky champion that beat both Zev and My Own in the Latonia championship, will get into the feud and make the big special event a three-horse race.

GARCIA IS UNABLE TO MEET RITCHIE; O'DOWD AGREES TO ACT AS SUBSTITUTE

Frankie Garcia will not fight Joe Ritchie, programmed as the Philadelphia Caveman the auditorium tonight. Tim O'Dowd through his manager, James Mayson, has agreed to sub for Garcia and the fight will go on.

Timmy met Lew Silver last Tuesday night and won a flashy colored belt which promoters said carried with it the featherweight championship of the south. But this flashy colored belt and title will not be at stake tonight. Ritchie's manager has agreed that Joe would make the legitimate featherweight limit, but still Tim and Mayson don't care for the risk.

If Ritchie should beat O'Dowd, Tim will still keep his belt as a souvenir, but his so called title would be of little use to him when he walks out of the auditorium. He would get the horse laugh if he still used the title on his advertising.

But at any rate, a boxing title is no good to fighters these days. If they happen to annex one, they are always dodging logical opponents who would make a decent showing. While on the other hand if they didn't have this so-called title to risk they could get plenty of good matches that would bring a nice remuneration for their trouble. If they got licked nothing would be lost except a tooth or so.

Then champions are constantly being pestered by boxing commissions forfeiting their title without a fight. Others stay out of the ring on vaudeville tours, so that they find a great deal of difficulty in being able to get back into shape when they do finally consent to fight. So a fellow hasn't got much to lose when he drops one of these minor titles.

But with the so-called title and brightly colored belt eliminated from the argument, the affair tonight should prove just about as attractive as the one originally scheduled. O'Dowd and Ritchie have both met once before, the affair being staged in Louisville. Ritchie was awarded the decision by one paper, O'Dowd was given the verdict by another while the other two called the affair a draw.

So tonight these two young gentlemen will have the chance to settle their argument once more and here's hoping that it will be conclusive so that no more argument will be necessary.

As for Garcia cancelling the bout he only told the promoters that he had an injured hand. It could be the little Memphis scrapper is about the smoothest piece of fighting material that the south has seen in a long time in the featherweight class.

Gambling Pools Will Be Probed

Minneapolis, Minn., November 19.—Sporting, city and university authorities in Minneapolis are aroused by disclosures that commercial gambling was being carried on at the center of the subject of betting pools in this city.

Members of the city council announced they will ask police protection of alleged bookmakers. Investigators estimated that more than $8,000 was paid Saturday on football wagers at two centers of the pool operated in the downtown district here.

Denouncing the pools, George K. Belden, president of the Minneapolis baseball club of the American association, urged that the gamblers be given maximum jail sentences. "Think what would happen if some college player got mixed up in the kind of scandal that wrecked the Chicago White Sox a few years ago," he said.

Football pools, if allowed to operate, will kill amateur sports, President Lotus D. Coffman, of the University of Minnesota, declared.

"Imagine young men on our team being approached by professional gamblers," he said, "yet that is exactly what will happen if this thing is allowed to go on."

Fred W. Luehring, athletic director of the University of Minnesota, appealed to the public to help in getting and urged newspapers to aid by not quoting odds on football games.

Recognition of Records Denied

Detroit, November 19.—Charlie Paddock's famous record of five yards in nothing flat, has been rejected again, this time with convincing finality, by the National Amateur Athletic union.

More than a year ago Paddock clipped some fractions of seconds off the old records at intermediate distances. When the marks came up for approval before the 1922 meeting in New York, Paddock was turned down.

One reason for rejection was that for one stretch for five yards some of the clockers made it appear that Paddock was faster than time itself. There was no difference between his time at the first mark as recorded by some watches and the time five yards further on as recorded by others.

Friends of Paddock representing western branches of the A. A. U. appealed the decision but the new records committee in its report Monday, upheld the old body.

The delegates Monday made several decisions, one of which permits professional athletes to compete in playground meets with amateurs provided the pro's live adjacent to the grounds. The Illinois A. C. was awarded the national indoor swimming championship meets and the national indoor senior games are to be held in New York in March. The juniors will decide their championships in Buffalo on February 22.

Cutler Is Winner.
Detroit, Mich., November 19.—Albert J. Cutler, of New York, defeated Al Taylor, of Ann Arbor, Mich., 300 to 286 and David McAndrews, of Chicago, won from Tadeo Suganuma, of Japan, 320 to 212 in the U.S. 2 ball line junior billiard championship play here today.

Ruth and his barnstormers had their best trip of all this fall although little was heard about him or them. They played in towns that Ruth never had seen before and whose people had never seen him. The novelty was mutual and Ruth "went bigger" than he had done in the small time since he first became what he is. His troupe made funds in the after-season wandering of 1921 but Judge Landis took away all that and plenty more when he nudged them with his authority.

KID NORFOLK TO MEET SIKI

New York, November 19.—Battling Siki, temporarily retired from the bar at which he won great distinction in Paris, will show New York Tuesday night what sort of fighter it was who suddenly smashed the beautiful features and demolished the professional reputation of Georges Carpentier.

Siki has been in the United States many weeks, but his fight with Kid Norfolk, another sooty-complexioned light-heavyweight, will be the first ring bout in this country.

In fact, New York has not even had a chance to form an opinion of Siki as a cop-fighter, for he decided not to fight the police in a gust of wind of the world when a gust of wind flung aside the skirt of a policeman's jacket at the dock and day Siki landed from Paris. That prankish breeze revealed to Siki two strong reasons for resolving not to fight the New York cops.

One, dangling from a leather thong at the policeman's belt, was a blackjack, loaded with shot. The other was a very discouraging thing in a holster.

Siki has been quiet ever since, except on one occasion when he had used bad judgment to aggravate a trainman while returning from an exhibition in Canada. The trainman said to have bent a coupling pin over the batter's skull, virtually ruining the coupling pin.

Managers to Attend.
Angry trainmen and cops will respect the sanctity of the ring when Siki goes in to fight Norfolk, but his ex-managers will attend in a body, wearing the brown derby, fawn spots and checked vest which constitute the uniform of Siki chapter of the Order of Fight Managers. And some of them may be hard to restrain. A manager has to provide pork chops, ball bonds and other little necessities for his boxers and these business agents were unable to deduct their pay from Siki's earnings because he made no earnings.

Madison Square Garden, where Siki and Norfolk will give their entertainment, is the most completely equipped plant for a fight of this kind, having a swimming tank for the final plunge of the loser and a maze of aerial trapezes dangling from the arch-beams upon which both boys are expected to do some characteristic jungle exercises. Norfolk is adept at both.

When he fought Sweet William Tate, the saddle-crooked pacifier in the semi-final to the caving in of Bill Brennan by Jack Dempsey, Norfolk spent most of his time swinging along the ropes and leaping lightly from post to post like a flirtatious ringtail.

But in his last appearance at the garden, against Harry Wills, Norfolk broke all previous plunging records for both speed and distance. Wills raised a hand to rub his own nose as he came out of his corner and Norfolk fainted.

Siki is held on a farm in New Jersey far from the gaudy distractions of Harlem until the time comes for him to go into the ring.

Centenary Eleven Boasts Of Excellent Record; Line Will Average 200 Pounds

Declines Invitation.
Milwaukee, Wis., November 19.—The Marquette University football team, undefeated since November, 1921, will not accept the invitation of Coach McMillin to journey to Shreveport, La., to meet McMillin's Centenary College aggregation on December 8, according to announcement tonight by the Marquette athletic board. Faculty objection and the extra period of training that would be required are understood to be the reasons for refusing McMillin's offer.

BY BILL MORROW.
Confident by their victories of the past week-ends, the Oglethorpe Petrels started work yesterday afternoon in preparation for the game with "Bo" McMillin's Centenary eleven.

The Storm Petrels will play hosts to the visitors Saturday afternoon at Grant field in a battle that promises to be one of the most colorful encounters of the season.

Centenary has as its representative on the gridiron, an eleven that has totaled 250 points to 43 for the opposition, an offense that is exceedingly effective and a defense that will give the Petrels considerable trouble.

Adrian Maurer, "Frog" Gordy and Bob Kilgore, Petrel backfield aces, will meet one of their greatest tests against a line known for its strength and avoidances.

"Bo" McMillin will bring a squad to Grant field containing several stars that tip the scales above the 200-pound mark. Dasher, a guard, weighs the amount of 210, while such players as Ellsworth, Wafer and Hubbard bear down from 210 to 245 and are all linemen.

The Oglethorpe clan can boast of only one player that will come near the mark of "Bo" McMillin's linemen, "Zing" Roberts is the individual in this instance. Though the Petrels do not have at their disposal any extra heavy players, they have a fairly good line and an experienced defense that, regardless of their extra weight, the Centenary combination should have a great deal of trouble in disposing of without a great struggle.

The Petrels' coaching staff has brought its charges along nicely and in the past four battles the Petrels have shown an increased knowledge in practically every department of play.

Good Line Charging.
Until the Oglethorpe-Mercer mix-up the Petrel line had failed miserably in opening any holes for the backs. But in the battle with the Baptists the offensive element was a great improvement and Maurer and company were given a little more help from this department.

Followers of the Storm Petrels are wondering what form of attack they will attempt against their heavier opponent. Coaches Robertson and Browning will doubtless open their bag of tricks for the Saturday affair and give the Petrels several new plays and formations to use against the visitors. Bob Kilgore, used by the Petrel quarterback to gain the needed two or three yards for first down, will bear the brunt of the majority of the plunging, while Maurer, Gordy, Ivey, Redfern and a couple of other speed merchants will have the majority of the responsibility when fast stepping is needed.

With the offensive department working overtime, the Storm Petrels had little trouble with the Camp Benning officers and totaled their largest score of the year, 36 points against nothing for the Columbus force.

The Petrels are in good condition, both mentally and physically, for the battle of Saturday and Centenary will not be facing an eleven used to defeat, but one having tasted of victory over three times this season, ready to give them a hefty scrap.

BASEBALL OWNERS TO WINTER AT BRUNSWICK

Brunswick, Ga., November 19.—Col. T. L. Houston, of New York, formerly half owner of the New York American baseball team, and Wilbur Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League, are due at Dover Hall, 12 miles from here tomorrow, and with them, it is stated, will come a number of friends, who will be at the club for some time.

The full personnel of the party is not known, but it will include baseball owners, players and others.

Dover Hall was purchased by a number of prominent big league managers, owners and players several years ago and has been converted into a magnificent club house. Many hundreds of acres of land are included in the tract, where usually good hunting and fishing is enjoyed. The club has also leased an old rice field, where duck hunting is enjoyed.

DOUGLAS AGGIES WIN OVER BREWTON PARKER

Douglas, Ga., November 19.—In what proved to be one of the fastest football games ever played on local soil, the Douglas Aggies defeated the fast Brewton Parker eleven here today to the final score of 44 to 7. The Brewton Parker team was the first to score, early in the first quarter. Wumack and Tate were the stars for the Brewton Parker eleven while Vickers, Rogers, Strickland and Nahrda did the best for the Aggies.

Grid Player Dies.

Fairmont, W. Va., November 19.—Dale Hawley, aged 18 years, an end on the New Martinsville, W. Va., high school football team, died in a hospital here today from injuries received in a game there last Saturday. His back was broken. Hawley collapsed after he had been tackled.

Democratic Women's Clubs Are Organized by Mrs. T. L. Brown

Mrs. Thornton Lee Brown, organizer for the democratic national committee, arrived in Atlanta Monday to attend the third regional conference of democratic women, which convenes this week in Atlanta with headquarters at the Anale Hotel, and in an interesting interview gave out the following information concerning the democratic women's clubs:

"Democratic women's clubs are organized for educational purposes; to give out to the women definite, authentic information concerning the democratic party and concerning vital issues," said Mrs. Brown.

"The first club was organized in Missouri in June of last year. In three weeks, 48 clubs had been organized, and before the November election there were 89. There are now in the state of Missouri 164 clubs. Since that time, I have organized through state committees and state leaders clubs in Montana, Iowa, Wyoming, Idaho, and many other states. There are now something like 1,500 democratic women's clubs.

"I have just returned from Kentucky, where I assisted in the campaign which resulted in such a sweeping victory for the democratic party. 88,000 women were registered in Kentucky.

Asked if women were more indifferent than men to politics, Mrs. Brown said, "Women are not indifferent, but it is very hard to get them to give time to studying political affairs. Women who are interested think more deeply and more seriously than the men. The difficulty is the apathy of the masses. Women who are interested take politics very seriously."

Mrs. Brown was asked if she thought women would develop along individual lines, or if they would stick to parties. She said, "They will stick to parties; that is sure. And the greatest opportunity for women is in the democratic party, because it gives them real fifty-fifty representation. Women can go into the democratic party and get what they want. It has always stood for justice and human rights, and these are the things women stand for."

She was asked if women had brought anything to the party, or to politics. "I think," she said, "it is asking a good deal of women to expect them to change very materially in four years conditions which have existed for more than four hundred years. But they have contributed a great deal."

Mary C.—Wash and dry your arms before using the peroxide for bleaching the hair. The hair should be free from oil to get the best results from the bleach.

Buddy—I should think that you were in need of a good hair tonic such as the Pilocarpine, for which I am glad to mail the formula. This will stimulate the color secretions in addition to building up the health of the scalp so it really overcomes all such troubles as those you mention.

Miss A. Du R.—The only way you could change your dark brown hair to that of black would be to dye it. I am sure you would be very sorry after you had done this, as your own shade must be far more becoming than the one you are longing for.

Miss G. E.—An exercise for reducing the ankles is as follows: Stretch out each foot in turn, point toes down, bending from the ankle turn foot upward, outward and in. Rotate foot from ankle while holding the knee so the leg will not share in the exercise.

August B. Helen K.—To make walnut stain for coloring hair, buy a pound of domestic walnuts. Cover with water and let steep over a slow fire until most of the color is extracted from the nuts. Add a handful of salt to set color, and apply to the hair with a toothbrush, so the stain will not come in contact with the skin. If it does it will stain that also. From a pound of nuts there should be about a pint of strong liquor stain.

Thirteen, Hopeful, Miss L. B. Lillian R. W. A. S. M. M.—If your skin is enlarged pores, for after that will come the blackheads.

City Federation To Sponsor Lectures.

Four lectures on the practical application of scientific principles, presented in two series of lectures given by Dr. Blanche Grosbeck Lovelidge, will be sponsored by the Atlanta Federation of Women's clubs, according to an announcement made by Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president of the federation, at the close of the second series.

"Owing to the insistence of the many of the members of our federation, I feel that we shall do well to continue to sponsor this wonderful opportunity to learn from Dr. Lovelidge the latest scientific conclusions regarding mental powers," Mrs. Stevens declared.

"Our wonderful Georgia school for mountain boys and girls at Tallulah has benefited from our first two courses to the extent of leading our city federation to found two perpetual scholarships there in honor of the two founders of the city federation, Mrs. W. B. Pattillo and Mrs. Julius Brown. But however great is the benefit to our club undertakings derived from the proceeds of these lectures, a further impelling cause of our offering another course of lectures is the immense good to ourselves experienced by those who attend regularly. It would be difficult to overestimate the mental stimulus club women declare they have received from Dr. Lovelidge's clear, practical and easily understood exposition of her subjects."

Dr. Lovelidge will lecture first on "Denial," second on "Affirmation," third on "Silence," and fourth on "The New Birth." Each lecture will take up principles heretofore set forth abstractly and will make definite personal application of them. Dr. Lovelidge will offer her hearers plans for testing these principles upon themselves and their surroundings, and will include illustrations bordering upon those utilized in university laboratories, wherein mental action is subjected to rigid formulas before being accepted as proven.

"Let the dead past bury the past," Dr. Lovelidge declares, "contains a profound truth regarding mental phenomena, and the practical, personal application of denial of former lapses and errors is a valuable instrument in progress." The many uses to which denial should be put will be set forth in the first lecture of the series, which will begin on Tuesday morning at Carnegie library, in the assembly room at 11 o'clock. The lectures will be devoted to the memorial scholarships.

Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, past president of the Atlanta Federation, will be chairman of arrangements for the lectures and will be assisted by a large committee.

Tickets will be $2 for the series, 75 cents each lecture. Tickets are good for four admissions, whether the four are used singly or by a group of individuals for one lecture.

Children Trained for Useful Citizenship in Special Classes

MRS. NELSON PLEADS FOR AID

Mrs. Julia O'Keefe Nelson, Atlanta school commissioner and chairman of the committee for special and adult education on the Board of Education, in an interview regarding the special classes in the public schools, says:

"In these special classes are mental defective pupils, from fifteen to sixteen years old with the intelligence of eight years and less. Before these classes were formed these pupils were the torment of their teachers, and being unable to grasp the subjects expected of them they hindered the progress of normal pupils, tried the patience of their teachers and were themselves unhappy.

Special Classes. "With the inauguration of the special classes the condition vastly improved. The children here are taught largely handicraft, the making and painting of wooden blocks, toys, flowers, boxes, animals, and other interesting objects. They are taught to weave table covers, spreads and rugs in a beautiful manner and are able to sell many of these articles.

"Before the inauguration of the classes these children, for the most part, had to be forced to attend school. He won't stay in no school and he won't stay in no school, explained one mother. Her boy has now been in a special class and with only two unavoidable absences. These pupils come usually from the poorer homes where there is little time to give to them and often they are misunderstood. One father told a teacher, 'he don't learn nothing because you don't beat him enough. You beat him at school and I'll beat him at home and we'll make him learn.'

"All the beatings given him could not have made him learn these books, and would only have made him defiant and perhaps caused him to run away to make his helpless way in the world. Instead of being beaten, the school he was given work with his hands—simple things which he was patiently encouraged to make. Little by little, some reading, writing and arithmetic was instilled in his mind and in a few years he was earning a living as a carpenter. Defective girls often make good wages in factories after leaving these classes. The children point with pride when a visitor is shown through, and it is a hard little which can view unmoved the little girls with weak, but happy faces, cutting out objects or handling a little paint brush or needle and thread, and the boys, vigorously using saw and tools—and in imagination see what they would be at home without such training.

Human Relationship. "Particular stress is laid on their instruction in 'human relationship,' only that is the term used to them. They are impressed with the necessity of right conduct in their intercourse with others and are taught to be kind, to do their share of work, and control their temper.

"My committee and I had the pleasure of attending a luncheon in an elementary school prepared by girls in a defective class under the supervision of a teacher. Preparing, stitching and sewing and serving the food to the girls, and making their clothes on the school machines, is all preparation for home making.

"I would like to see every citizen of Atlanta to visit these special classes in our public schools, and see the importance of this work.

"The special classes are now asked to provide funds for another special class and teachers' room equipment. Doctors Strayer and Englehardt stated that 1,000 children in Atlanta were mental defectives, of which number 250 are being trained in schools. If we were to ask for teachers and equipment for all the others, and there is no money to pay the November member salaries to our present teachers.

Donations are often made to colleges to give higher education to those who are unable to attend a public school or its equivalent. Why not make donations to those at the very bottom, to these defective pupils, to the children of the poor, to the children of the weak in brain, weak in will, weak in a sense of right and wrong and hence helplessly handicapped in the race of life?"

Euzelien Class To Hold Meeting. The Euzelien Sunday school class of the Third Baptist church will hold the regular monthly business meeting in the Fidelity classroom of the church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A full attendance is urged.

Star Club Will Hold Dance. The Star club will give its third dance of the winter on November 21, on the roof of the Cecil hotel. There will be music by an orchestra and Ed Cooleage will be floor manager. Those who have before attended, as well as other friends, are invited.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home. Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but few moments to prepare, and saves you about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine cough syrup is a combination of pine and sugar. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can use in a day, and for three times the money. It is pure, good and tastes very pleasant.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a very short time. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistent, loose, and may be accompanied by inflammation of the throat and chest. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it usually in 24 hours.

Pine is a highly concentrated, powerful, pungent of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept any cheap, cheaply made, or cheaply advertised substitutes. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MRS. BUTLER'S TERRIBLE PAINS. Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

W. Philadelphia, Pa. — "When I cleaned house last April I must have overlooked, for after that time I had no more of the terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs. I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if I did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, I put me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout." — Mrs. CHARLES BUTLER, 1233 S. Hanson St., W. Philadelphia, Pa.

TWO HOMES BOUGHT BY THE SAME MAN

An interesting incident in the upbuilding of Capitol View was the sale of a second home to the same man.

Several years ago he made his first purchase from us and lived in the house for some time. It appreciated in value so much that he received an offer which yielded a handsome profit and he accepted.

Since then he came to us and bought another home, in keeping with his growing prosperity, and he is living there in comfort with his family.

Practically all who purchased homes from us have enjoyed a good profit on their investments from the enhancement of value. All the while they were enjoying the home as its value increased.

In the meantime they saved enough in rent to pay half the original cost. It is impossible to find a safer, sounder investment than that, and with it you have the added satisfaction of real home life.

We have for sale at $5,200, on an elevated corner lot, a beautiful five-room bungalow that is a fine investment for some one. Bought under a mortgage, by the usual plan, it would cost you at least $5,700, because of loan fees and real estate commission that would be included in the price.

We save you that $500 and in addition save you about $350 in interest by our 100-payment plan.

This house has a good size front veranda, living room, dining room, kitchen, pantry, two bed rooms with a closet in each, bath room, medicine cabinet, screened back porch, hot and cold water, gas and electricity. All this for $5,200, $300 cash and $50 per month, without a mortgage.

Phone Mr. Settle, Walnut 2811, for appointment.

First of "Betty Ann" Dolls Made Ready For Delivery

CHRISTMAS COMING—NEW ENTRIES URGED

Ready for distribution to the first proud and happy little girls to win them, a dozen "Betty Ann" dolls—the finest of American make that possibly be procured by The Constitution in a special purchase—Monday were unpacked from the cases in which they are shipped and are now at The Constitution awaiting delivery.

Four hundred and eighty-eight of these beautiful dolls are in the warehouse, and when the demand for them arises they will be unpacked in readiness to turn over to their owners.

Entries in The Constitution's great Christmas doll offer have been coming in steadily and scores of little girls and adults wishing to win magnificent Christmas presents for little sisters' without cost are actively engaged in the game of doll-winning. The management of the "Betty Ann" offer, however, emphasizes the fact that there are still many dolls to be won, and in view of the fact that Christmas is rapidly approaching, immediate action is urged upon applicants.

This offer applies only in Atlanta, its suburbs and towns and cities where The Constitution has an established carrier service. On rural routes and in towns where carrier service is not available, The Constitution is making a special attractive offer and will gladly supply full particulars upon application.

In this issue of The Constitution appears a full-page advertisement, describing the "Betty Ann" offer in full detail.

Don't fail to turn to it and read it carefully.

Then fill out your entry blank and get busy at once. Christmas is coming fast.
